FOUND IN WISCONSIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(P)—From 1,000,000 boys and girls engaged in 4-H work on farms, the national committee seeking the champions of each sex found both of them in Wisconsin.

The boy: Donald N. McDowell, 16, of Montello, Marquette county.

The girl: Frances Mae Good, 19, of Monroe, Green county.

RICH MILWAUKEEAN
THREATENED IN LETTER

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 22.—(P)—Police Monday revealed a threat by extortionists to "kill" Frank L. Werners, 49, wealthy shoe manufacturer, and to bomb his palatial home.

The plotters demanded $2,500 and in a letter scribbled on wrapping paper directed that the money be left at a saloon on the Fond Du Lac road.

CUBA MAY RELEASE
POLITICAL PRISONERS

HAVANA, Nov. 22.—(P)—It was reported in reliable quarters Monday that numerous political prisoners, including many prominent Cubans, would be released tomorrow following a consultation between President Gerardo Machado and other high government officials at the president's summer residence.

SOVIET 'PARLIAMENT' TO ADOPT PROGRAM

MOSCOW, Nov. 22.—(P)—The all-union central executive committee, which is soviet Russia's parliament, was summoned Monday into regular session January 10 at which the principal business will be the adoption of a general economic program for the first year of the second five-year plan.

E. D. RIVERS
SPEAKER PLEDGES

hearing before Governor Russell. He will leave Thursday morning to resume his campaign looking to the withdrawal of the other speakership candidates.

"I have practically completed a tour of the state," Rivers explained, "and I am confident that I have a sufficient number of pledges to force the opposition out of the race."

"Such a course on their part will undoubtedly work for a more harmonious organization of the house and make for a more constructive session of the legislature. If I win by a big majority, as I am confident I will, it will avert a fight on the floor which would establish alignments and reflect a partisan spirit."

Other candidates who have been prominently mentioned for the speakership are Marion Allen, of Millington; L. Thomas (Pat) Gillen, of Macon; Paul Lindsay, of Decatur; and Ernest M. Davis, of Camilla.

"I believe," Rivers concluded, "practically 100 per cent of the pledges I have received are sincere. It has been my experience with members of the legislature in the past that they respect pledges of this nature."

Among the vice presidents elected were O. E. Engler, Omaha, and Oscar E. Barrett, Cincinnati.

New directors elected include: H. H. Tucker, Little Rock; J. D. Beeler, Evansville, Ind.; J. Chris Jensen, Council Bluffs, Iowa; Ralph Snyder, Manhattan, Kan.; H. J. McConnon, Winona, Minn.; and A. Robinson, Pierre, S. D.

FEDERAL BARGE LINES
DEFENDED BY ASHBURNMission of Corporation Is Nearing End, Mississippi
Group Is Told.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 22.—(P)—Major General T. Q. Ashburn, president of the Inland Waterway Corporation, which operates the Federal Barge Lines, told the Mississippi Valley Association here today the mission of the corporation, "pioneering and demonstrative is approaching its end."

Taking cognizance of criticism of the corporation by those opposing activities of the government in business, Major General Ashburn, in an address, said the inland waterways constitute the exception that proves the "general rule" that there are objections to the government in business.

He said the Federal Barge Lines were attacked on grounds that governmental business cannot be successful because of red tape; that the organization is costing taxpayers millions of dollars; that in figuring costs of the corporation there is no provision for original construction, maintenance of waterways, interest on money and payment of taxes.

The corporation closed with the reelection of Robert Isham Randolph, Chicago, as president, and Thomas F. Cunningham, New Orleans, as vice president-at-large.

BOGUS TAX RECEIPTS
CHARGED AT HEARING

JONESBORO, Tenn., Nov. 22.—(P)—Testimony that 2,000 bogus poll tax receipts were printed in Washington county and at least 10 or 12 handed out for use in the August 4 primary was given at a hearing today before Representative J. E. Nelson, republican, Maine, member of the special house election committee here to investigate the congressional election in the first district of Tennessee.

Nelson came from Washington on complaint of Congressman O. B. Lovette, of Greenville, who, running as an independent republican, was defeated by former Representative R. Carroll Reece, of Johnson City, in the general election. Lovette also was defeated by Reece in the primary.

DEATH PENALTY UPHOLD FOR NORTH CAROLINIAN
CARSON CITY, Nev., Nov. 22.—(P)—Everett T. Mull, alias John Hall, former successful North Carolina contractor, today lost his last chance to escape execution Monday for the murder of John C. O'Brien when the state board of pardons and parole commissioners refused to commute the death sentence.

The Nevada supreme court previously had sustained his conviction by a jury in the district court of Lincoln county.

Knife Wound in Heart, Negro Boy Will Live
ABILENE, Texas, Nov. 22.—(P)—A knife was plunged into Willie Fitzgerald's heart a week ago. Physicians said today the negro boy had almost recovered and would be able to leave the hospital in a few days.

Five stitches were taken to close the wound in the right auricle of the heart. Another negro boy is charged with the stabbing.

"Model Boy" Killer

Bertram Arnold, 16, was known to his companions and teachers in Riverside, a Chicago suburb, as a model boy, but authorities said he confessed to killing his 60-year-old step-grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Saxe, and stuffing her body down a cistern, after he returned home from a church dance November 18.—Associated Press Photo.

Two Youthful Killers
Are Neighbors in Jail

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(P)—Ignatius "Iggy" Varcha and Charles Bertrand "Bert" Arnold Jr., youthful confessed killers, were neighbors tonight in the county jail.

Arnold, 16-year-old son of a woodware manufacturer, was locked up late today after he had spent Monday and most of Tuesday guarded in a loop hotel room for hammering to death his step-grandmother, Mrs. Ellen O. Saxe, in the Arnold home in suburban Riverside.

Almost directly above Arnold's cell in the boys' section of the jail, young Varcha, who confessed to three killings, several criminal assaults, a number of shootings and a string of robberies, awaited arraignment tomorrow on charges of murder, criminal assault and assault to kill.

COAST GUARDSMAN DIES SEEKING MATE'S RESCUE
NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 22.—(P)—One man lost his life in making a heroic effort to swim ashore through heavy seas today from the stranded fishing trawler Sea Rover, at Little Island, to summon aid for eight of his shipmates.

The eight men, a few minutes later were landed safely on the beach in a breeches buoy which was sent out to the ship on a line shot from a Lyle gun by coast guardsmen.

The drowned man was John Highwater, of Brooklyn.

GOTHAM IS SOLVENT, SAYS COMPTROLLER
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(P)—City Comptroller Charles W. Berry, declaring there has been "much misleading propaganda" circulated over the country about New York city's finances, today presented 12 economy proposals to the board of aldermen.

Asserting that "the solvency of the city of New York is beyond question," Berry presented figures to show that the city's net fund debt is $577,500,000 less than the limit allowed by law. The debt as of November 11, he said, was $1,831,350,246.

HOPE IS REVIVED FOR NELSON'S LIFE
PEIPING, China, Nov. 22.—(P)—Fresh hope for the safety of the Rev. Bert Nelson, who has been a captive of bandits for two years and who recently was reported dead, were raised in dispatches from Hankow today.

United States Consul General Adams at Hankow reported, to the location here that Chinese had seen Mr. Nelson alive on October 5, this year. This date is two months later than the one on which missionary sources based their conclusion that Mr. Nelson was slain.

HONDURAN FEDERALS MASS AGAINST REBELS
TEGUIGALPA, Honduras, Nov. 22.—(P)—Government troops were being massed today at La Paz and Quimistan for action against the rebellious elements of the liberal party who have revolted against the administration.

KENTUCKY ASKS COURT TO UPHOLD REDISTRICT
WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(P)—The state of Kentucky Monday asked the supreme court to reverse a decision of a three-judge federal court which held the legislature's redistricting act invalid.

Trial Date Set.
MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 22.—(P)—James S. Murray, charged with killing Daniel A. Roberger, customs border patrolman on a liquor laden vessel off Davis beach April 25 after Roberger had been kidnapped by rum runners, pleaded not guilty to the charge on arraignment in federal court today. Judge H. A. L. Hitter set Murray's trial for November 28.

Divorce Asked.
RENO, Nev., Nov. 22.—(P)—Mrs. Julia Stratton Hoyt Leaman, prominent in New York and Cincinnati society, filed suit here today for a divorce from Thomas P. Leaman Jr., whom she married at Port Chester, N. Y., June 7, 1924. Mrs. Leaman charged cruelty and asked for approval of a property settlement. Agreement dated October 4, 1932.

Granted New Trial.
JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 22.—(P)—Dr. J. H. Wood, Copiah county physician convicted of manslaughter and under 15-year sentence in the state penitentiary, Monday was granted a new trial by the Mississippi supreme court.

Weevil Infestation Is Heaviest of Years
NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 22.—(UP)—Farmers of the south will start next year's cotton crop with the heaviest boll weevil infestation on record, according to officials of the American Cotton Co-operative Association.

Figures released by the association today, the first made available this season on weevil infestation, showed that at the time of picking, 10.6 per cent of squares in the fields were punctured by weevil.

This is an increase of 50 per cent over last fall's figures and a 25 per cent increase over the fall of 1928.

WAR BETWEEN IRELAND
AND ENGLAND FORESEENIrish Central Organization
Prepares for Revolutionary Movement.

BY W. G. QUISENBERRY.
DUBLIN, Nov. 22.—(UP)—Armed warfare between Ireland and Great Britain within the next six months is seen as a strong possibility by some leaders of the Free State left wing republicans.

The central organization, therefore, is straining itself to prepare for hostilities. It is confident that the republican movement will be victorious and that Ireland will be, before long, a united national under its own independent government.

Headquarters for the revolutionary movement is on the top floor of an old, soot-darkened building in St. Andrew's street, Dublin. At an appointment this correspondent met today with members of the council of the Irish republican army.

The ancient walls of the place are covered with posters, photographs and other mementoes of the Easter rebellion.

ARMY DESERTIONS
DECREASE SHARPLY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(P)—Army desertions fell off nearly 50 per cent in the 1932 fiscal year.

There were approximately 2,800 desertions then compared with 5,076 last year, says the annual report of Major General J. F. Preston, inspector general.

Separations in the army by purchase of discharge, sentence of civil court, minority and fraudulent enlistment were also less this year than in 1931.

FLORIDIAN TO OPEN
NEW BOYS' SCHOOL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 22.—(P)—Roger M. Painter announced here today that the Bolles school, a new military school for boys, will open at San Jose, near Jacksonville, on January 3, next. Painter is to be president of the institution.

The Bolles school will occupy the former San Jose hotel, now occupied by Florida Military Academy, it was announced. The Richard J. Bolles estate, founder of the school, owns the school plant.

Walker, on Riviera, May Write Memoirs
VILLEFRANCHE, France, Nov. 22.—(P)—Former Mayor James J. Walker landed at this Riviera resort today from the steamship Conte Grande. Asked whether he intended to remain for a while, Mr. Walker said:

"I haven't made up my mind, but you will find out in a couple of days."

Unconfirmed reports were that he received a $50,000 offer for his memoirs from an American magazine and may write them here, although he said he came to play golf and rest.

Betty Compton, the actress, and her mother disembarked from the same liner.

Colonel Robins Defended by Wife
Against Those Who Doubt Amnesia

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Colonel Raymond Robins remained under a physician's care today while his wife took up his defense against persons who said he suffered from amnesia. The noted prohibition leader suffered from "amnesia" while living under the name of "Reynolds Rogers."

"Of course I know there are always people who are inclined to be suspicious in cases like this," Mrs. Robins said, "but what can we do about it? They can go on believing such things if it gives them any pleasure."

"Those of us who know about such cases, know that his behavior was not unusual for a victim of amnesia. His recovery is the result of a perfectly natural process under the circumstances."

Mrs. Robins said Colonel Robins had not been questioned concerning events since he dropped from sight in New York September 3 and was discovered Friday in Whittier, 60 miles from here.

The lineup will be: Republicans, 48; democrats, 47; farmer labor, 1.

Grammer is an executive of the Flora Logging Company of Seattle. During the World War he was connected with the spruce products division of the war department.

RAILS SEEK RELIEF FROM ALABAMA TAX

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Eighteen railroads operating in Alabama have appealed from ad valorem tax assessments prescribed by the state tax commission or have petitioned for injunction pending it was learned today. These appeals and petitions involve state, county and city taxes now due and to become delinquent on the first of the next year, totaling approximately $2,500,000.

Roads protesting assessments include the Southern, L. & N., Atlantic Coast Line, Central Georgia, Western Railway of Alabama, N. C. & St. L., the Frisco, Illinois Central, Chattanooga Valley, A. T. & N. & G. M. & N., and the Northern Alabama. Roads seeking to enjoin the state tax commission are the Mobile & Ohio, the Frisco and the Illinois Central.

HONEYMOONER HELD IN FATAL ACCIDENT

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22.—(AP)—W. R. Harris, of Zebulon, N. C., a honeymoon motorist, was held in $2,500 bail at Elkridge, Baltimore suburb, today in connection with the death of Walter Harman, 52, a survivor for the state roads commission. Harman was struck by Harris' automobile yesterday on the Washington boulevard.

CATHOLIC MEN SCORE
BIRTH CONTROL PLEA

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Assailing birth control as "moral leprosy," the National Council of Catholic Men today adopted a resolution calling for support of existing laws banning dissemination of information on the subject.

"Advocates of this pernicious immorality never cease," the resolution said, "to endeavor to win converts to their cause, and the periods of distress now passing has provided willing listeners to the siren call for the limitation of the family on economic grounds, although opposed to the unchangeable law of God and the welfare of human society."

There in that little mountain village he lived for more than two months under the name of "Reynolds Rogers." Bearded and dressed in clerical, the stranger soon became the friend of the town's young people, hiked with them through the mountains and taught them their Sunday school lessons.

It police one of the youthful friends made in this manner, 13-year-old Carl Byrd Fisher, who wrote the Robins family attorney that he believed the mysterious "Rogers" was in reality Colonel Robins. Fisher today was one of the 150 young people who signed an invitation to Colonel and Mrs. Robins to make Whittier their summer home.

Dr. M. A. Griffin, who has treated Colonel Robins since he was brought to Appalachian Hall sanatorium here, said in a bulletin today that his patient was showing "continued improvement." No one, however, is allowed to see him except Mrs. Robins, the physician said.

Both the unpleasanties occurred in Paris. An argument developed between a young man in Trotsky's party and another traveler over the ownership of two valises, and the Russian's friend suffered a face slapping.

The trouble was straightened out at a police station. The other difficulty arose when police ousted a passenger from a second-class compartment in the Dunkirk train to make room for Trotsky. The passenger protested volubly.

In Copenhagen, the communist leader will lecture on the revolution which established the soviet government in Russia.

AUBURN SUSPENDS CLASSES FOR WEEK BECAUSE OF 'FLU'

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Classes at Alabama Polytechnic Institute were ordered suspended at noon today for the remainder of the week because of a mild epidemic of influenza on the campus.

With about 100 students reported ill, Dr. B. F. Thomas, college physician, recommended the suspension to the administrative committee and it was approved to prevent further spread of the disease. The committee already had designated Thursday, Friday and Saturday as Thanksgiving holidays.

Classes will be resumed Monday morning, November 28.

Dr. Thomas said none of the students reported ill was in any danger and the suspension was merely a precautionary measure.

Four members of Auburn's football team fell victim to influenza and have been unable to report for practice since Auburn's win over Georgia. They are Allen Rogers, half-back; Porter Grant, end; Commodore Wood, guard, and Norman Houston, guard.

ELECTIONS BOARD HEAD HELD FOR CONTEMPT

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—S. Howard Cohen, president of the board of elections, today was adjudged in contempt of court for failure to produce election records before a federal grand jury and was sentenced to 30 days' imprisonment by Federal Judge Alfred C. Cox.

The commitment order, however, was stayed until 4 p. m. tomorrow and Cohen was paroled in the custody of Corporation Counsel Arthur J. W. Hilly upon Hilly's statement that an appeal would be brought before the United States circuit court of appeals, with application for a further stay at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

CATHOLICS ASSEMBLE TO ALLOCATE FUNDS

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Leaders in the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic church assembled today and began allocation of a $1,300,000 fund for church extension work in the United States and its possessions.

Speakersmen for the conference announced the fund for extension work had decreased only about 10 per cent from last year and that about $15,000,000 in construction of churches, schools, seminaries and other projects had been started in the last four months.

Present at the meeting were 73 cardinals, bishops and archbishops, the largest annual gathering of high-ranking Catholic clergy except for the Eucharistic congress.

BIRTH CONTROL PLEA

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Assailing birth control as "moral leprosy," the National Council of Catholic Men today adopted a resolution calling for support of existing laws banning dissemination of information on the subject.

"Advocates of this pernicious immorality never cease," the resolution said, "to endeavor to win converts to their cause, and the periods of distress now passing has provided willing listeners to the siren call for the limitation of the family on economic grounds, although opposed to the unchangeable law of God and the welfare of human society."

There in that little mountain village he lived for more than two months under the name of "Reynolds Rogers." Bearded and dressed in clerical, the stranger soon became the friend of the town's young people, hiked with them through the mountains and taught them their Sunday school lessons.

It police one of the youthful friends made in this manner, 13-year-old Carl Byrd Fisher, who wrote the Robins family attorney that he believed the mysterious "Rogers" was in reality Colonel Robins. Fisher today was one of the 150 young people who signed an invitation to Colonel and Mrs. Robins to make Whittier their summer home.

Dr. M. A. Griffin, who has treated Colonel Robins since he was brought to Appalachian Hall sanatorium here, said in a bulletin today that his patient was showing "continued improvement." No one, however, is allowed to see him except Mrs. Robins, the physician said.

Both the unpleasanties occurred in Paris. An argument developed between a young man in Trotsky's party and another traveler over the ownership of two valises, and the Russian's friend suffered a face slapping.

The trouble was straightened out at a police station. The other difficulty arose when police ousted a passenger from a second-class compartment in the Dunkirk train to make room for Trotsky. The passenger protested volubly.

In Copenhagen, the communist leader will lecture on the revolution which established the soviet government in Russia.

AUBURN SUSPENDS CLASSES FOR WEEK BECAUSE OF 'FLU'

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Classes at Alabama Polytechnic Institute were ordered suspended at noon today for the remainder of the week because of a mild epidemic of influenza on the campus.

With about 100 students reported ill, Dr. B. F. Thomas, college physician, recommended the suspension to the administrative committee and it was approved to prevent further spread of the disease. The committee already had designated Thursday, Friday and Saturday as Thanksgiving holidays.

Classes will be resumed Monday morning, November 28.

Dr. Thomas said none of the students reported ill was in any danger and the suspension was merely a precautionary measure.

Four members of Auburn's football team fell victim to influenza and have been unable to report for practice since Auburn's win over Georgia. They are Allen Rogers, half-back; Porter Grant, end; Commodore Wood, guard, and Norman Houston, guard.

ELECTIONS BOARD HEAD HELD FOR CONTEMPT

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—S. Howard Cohen, president of the board of elections, today was adjudged in contempt of court for failure to produce election records before a federal grand jury and was sentenced to 30 days' imprisonment by Federal Judge Alfred C. Cox.

The commitment order, however, was stayed until 4 p. m. tomorrow and Cohen was paroled in the custody of Corporation Counsel Arthur J. W. Hilly upon Hilly's statement that an appeal would be brought before the United States circuit court of appeals, with application for a further stay at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

CATHOLICS ASSEMBLE TO ALLOCATE FUNDS

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Leaders in the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic church assembled today and began allocation of a $1,300,000 fund for church extension work in the United States and its possessions.

Speakersmen for the conference announced the fund for extension work had decreased only about 10 per cent from last year and that about $15,000,000 in construction of churches, schools, seminaries and other projects had been started in the last four months.

Present at the meeting were 73 cardinals, bishops and archbishops, the largest annual gathering of high-ranking Catholic clergy except for the Eucharistic congress.

CITY HEADS DIFFER
ON TRACTION PLAN

Key Opposes Proposal,
But Few Council Members Support It.

Proposal that the city purchase Atlanta's traction system and operate it on a uniform five-cent fare for street cars and buses Tuesday afternoon met varying reaction from Mayor James L. Key and council members.

At the same time it developed that proponents of an effort to override Key's veto to a council resolution calling a lower fare from the Georgia Power Company, operators of the present transit system, will fail.

Opponents of the move claimed that two-thirds of the 23 council votes required to override the may cannot be obtained at council's adjourned session at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Alderman W. A. Gilliam, of the twelfth ward, made Tuesday night he the city establish a committee to seek a fair appraisal of traction facilities and that the city buy it at an agreed price over a term of years.

Following are the reactions of Key and various council members to the Gilliam plan:

Key: "I do not see why we should buy anything. I think the power company would give it to us if we would agree to pay its debts. All we have to do is to buy it and buy power from the company."

Councilman H. Parks Rust, who voted for the measure which Key vetoed, and who said Tuesday night he will vote to sustain the mayor at Monday's session: "I would favor municipal operation if it could be done without loss. That is a big word. In Miami the city owns the traction service, it leased it to private interests but now has it back on its hands, the private company having failed."

Councilman Ed L. Almand, who was co-author of a council resolution seeking to force a five-cent fare here: "I can not see why this matter should be proposed now. It appears to me that the cart is before the horse. We should establish a city power plant to furnish power before we take over any such service. I have records to show that five-cent fares are in force in other cities where the services are privately furnished."

Alderman John F. Scott, co-author of the five-cent traction measure: "I hope Mr. Gilliam is sincere in his efforts. If he is, I will be with him to the limit. I have always believed in public ownership of utilities."

Alderman James E. Bowden, who voted for the reduction in rates: "I do not think we should take this step at this time. It is inopportune. I think the power company should furnish a five-cent service, and shall continue to vote for that."

"A group of council members are seeking now to petition the public service commission for a five-cent car and bus fare for Atlanta," Gilliam said. "They have investigated the matter, and if their conclusions are right, it would be a good thing for the city to operate the company. It might even help to reduce taxes or we might be able to further reduce fares through our earnings."

"Those championing the move assert that the system can be operated at a profit on five-cent fares. I propose to attempt to obtain the traction rights for its citizens, give them a five-cent or cheaper fare and let the city have the benefit of any profit which might accrue to such operation. We are now successfully operating a water works system, which is a public utility."

"The Georgia Power Company, however, contends it is losing money even now and that a five-cent fare would force reductions in salaries of men and in services now being rendered to the public. In the face of these contentions, I feel sure the power company would be glad to get rid of the service and let council handle it."

McCart, Wife Freed From Fulton Tower

H. B. McCart and his wife, Mrs. Freda McCart, of Whitehall street, who were held in Fulton tower for questioning by DeKalb county officers in connection with the investigation of the slaying of John Fowler, Avondale shopkeeper, Tuesday were released from custody, John W. Jones, investigator for Solicitor-General Claude G. Smith, of the Stone Mountain circuit, said.

Mr. and Mrs. McCart were taken from the tower Tuesday by Investigator Jones and were released after examination, it was said. Jones said that DeKalb officers are working hard to get some definite line on Fowler's death, but that the case is an extremely hard one to get into. Fowler was slain by holdup men two weeks ago.

ZAPOTEC TOMBS
REVEAL APITUDE
IN RELIEF PAINTING

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 22.—(P)—The tombs of Monte Alban in the state of Oaxaca, scene of the richest archaeological discoveries of this continent, today yielded evidence that the ancient Zapotec tribe of southern Mexico was expert in the civilized art of relief painting.

Dr. Alfonso Caso, government archaeologist, announced that paintings had been found on the floor and door jamb of a dust-filled tomb. The paintings were done in brilliant greens, reds and yellows, and the colors were well preserved, he said.

It is not yet possible to determine what the ancient artists portrayed or what significance their work may have.

The discovery was considered of great importance because it sheds direct light on the accomplishments of the ancients. Dr. Caso admitted that laymen might be disappointed because none of the stores of jewels and gold found in other Monte Alban tombs were discovered in this one.

DEMOCRATS SUPPORT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(P)—Three democratic house leaders Monday said they would welcome the administration's economy program and would co-operate in putting it through provided they were convinced it will not interfere with the efficiency of the government.

Theme of Beauty and Happiness
Elaborated On by Abbe Dimmet

"Life is too short not to make it great," Abbe Ernest Dimmet, internationally known French author and philosopher, asserted Tuesday morning in his address at the Piedmont Driving Club as the first lecturer of the Atlanta Fortnightly Series. He spoke on "Feasts of the Mind," and elaborated on a theme of beauty and happiness.

As one of the greatest thinkers in the world, and author of "The Art of Thinking" and other philosophical works, the abbe defined feasts of the mind as those bits of thoughts and feelings which elevate one intellectually, physically, sentimentally, and religiously. He advocated that every one read an inspiring passage from the Bible for four minutes every day.

"We buy a good book because it shows the philosophy of the author, and we read it in the hope of finding that 'magic' which recalls a happy experience, a happy past," he said. "We read Shakespeare and find a passage which is our own selves and it furnishes a feast for our mind. We read elevating books in the hope of being lifted to a higher plane in order that we may receive full measure from a short life."

"The first feast for the mind is nature, beautiful trees, scenery. Many people call the feeling sensual, but

ATLANTAN SAYS SOUTH TO KEEP COTTON PLACE

F. C. Winter Expresses Belief That "Liquor Will Return."

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Nov. 22.—(P)—An assertion that the south will not lose its place in the world cotton picture, and expression of a belief that "liquor is coming back" were given before the National Grange in annual session here today.

Dr. Cully A. Cobb, of Atlanta, associate editor of the Progressive Farmer, told the Grange delegates that "the south will not lose its place in the world cotton picture" and based his assertions on his "latest summary of conditions in other cotton-producing countries."

He said the south has a "natural climatic condition that sets it apart as the most superior cotton-producing area in the world."

F. C. Winter, of Los Angeles, vice president of the Farmers' Automobile Inter-insurance Exchange, said "we believe liquor is coming back and we know it will bring an increase in automobile accidents. Therefore, we are setting up a contingent reserve."

He predicted rates for Grangers would not go up in their mutual as much as in some other companies "because of the sobriety of Grangers."

BALDWIN JURY INDICTS
EX-WATER WORKS HEAD

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Nov. 22.—(P)—G. E. Williams, former superintendent of the city waterworks here, was indicted Tuesday by the Baldwin county grand jury on a charge of embezzlement of city funds. The indictment was returned after an all-day inquiry.

Williams disappeared from Milledgeville a year ago last September while an audit of the water board's books was being made. A shortage of more than $2,000 is alleged to have been found. Williams was located in Baltimore several months ago and an effort was made to bring him back on a warrant. Governor Ritchie would not honor the warrant.

An attorney for Williams tonight said that the accused man would surrender here the latter part of this week.

THE WAR WHOOP
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by N. C. Wyeth... inspired by the blood-curdling yells of war-mad savages, whose barbaric cruelty held America's early settlers in a constant state of terror. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies
—that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ASKS HELP FOR UNEMPLOYED
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the president-elect, called for a spirit of mutual helpfulness tonight to meet the unemployment situation, which she termed the biggest problem facing the country today.

"If all of us share and make up our minds that we are going to do to the limit whatever we can do for other people," she said, "I know that we are going to weather this depression."

Mrs. Roosevelt, who spoke as a representative of the emergency unemployment relief committee at the Prudence Penny Institute of Home Economics, also expressed the belief that people "are going to insist that our statesmen study the reason for economic troubles such as we have been going through and try to prevent them in the future."

NEW PARTY URGED BY LABOR GROUP

Executive Council, However, Asks Affirmation of Political Neutrality.

BY PAUL MILLER.
CINCINNATI, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A proposal that the American Federation of Labor form a new political organization—a "labor party"—was made before its annual convention today by the Amalgamated Associations of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

Indications, however, were the project would fail as similar proposals have failed in other years, for the federation's executive council, in a surprise move, offered a supplemental report affirming the organization's non-partisan stand on governmental problems.

The metal workers' "labor party" resolution expressed dissatisfaction with the programs of the republican and democratic parties. It asked the federation to "abandon the traditional non-partisan political policy and sponsor a genuine labor party." The resolution was shunted to a committee.

The resolution was introduced as United States Senator James J. Davis, former secretary of labor, was telling the delegates "politics should now take a long vacation and the incoming government should have our most hearty support on all measures which will promote the best interests of the people of the country."

Davis declared, too, for immediate modification of the Volstead act and for reorganization of the tax structure of the country.

Matthew Woll, president of the Union Life Insurance Company, founded and administered by organized labor, reported that despite widespread unemployment, the company recorded an 18 per cent increase in business last year to $57,077,506.

2 Songbirds From North Carolina Win First Places in Radio Audition

North Carolina songbirds took top honors in the Dixie Atwater Kent radio audition held recently at WSB, according to announcement Tuesday. Both the boy and girl representative of the Tarheel state won first place and will enter the finals in New York as representatives of the southeast in the national competition.

Miss Peggy Jo Lobb, 23 years old, of Concord, N. C., won first place in the girls' contest, and Wilson Angel, 19, of Winston-Salem, won in the boys' division. They sang anonymously under the numbers 18 and 19, respectively, and were selected by a vote of the radio audience and expert musical critics.

In announcing the winners the Atwater Kent Foundation said competition was unusually keen and that all voices were good. Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, Georgia chairman for the state audition, which was held in October, directed the competition in the Dixie division.

On the Air Today
Pupils of the upper grades and high school will hear a dramatic presentation of portions of Bulwer Lytton's novel, "The Last Days of Pompeii," when the American Pompeii of the Air, on the WGST-Columbia network, is given over to literature from 1:30 to 2 p. m.

"Covering the News of the Theater" will be discussed by Hiram Motherwell, editor of the Stage Magazine, during Bill Schutte's "Going to Press" program from 3:45 to 4 p. m. over the WGST-Columbia network.

Ruth Eting's vibrant version of "Who Cares?" from "Of These I Sing," and Nat Shilkret's arrangement of Ted Lewis' famous song, "When My Baby Smiles at Me," will be among the selections in "Music That Satisfies" when this program is broadcast tonight at 9 o'clock through the WGST-Columbia chain.

Charles Carille, tenor, has chosen "Alone Together," from "Flying Colors," as the feature number of the program in which he will be heard with Freddie Rich's orchestra at 9:30 p. m. over the WGST-Columbia network.

MARRIAGE ANNULLED FOR OLIVE BORDEN
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The marriage of Olive Borden, former motion picture actress, and Theodore Spector was annulled Monday by Supreme Court Justice Bernard L. Shientag on the recommendation of Referee John M. Tierney. Miss Borden charged Spector was also married to another.

DO HEADACHES DRIVE YOU CRAZY?
It's the worst kind of folly to dope and drug yourself every time you have one of those blinding, throbbing headaches. For drugs only relieve the pain for the moment, and in a little while the headache returns worse than ever and you have to drug yourself all over again. You've got to get at the cause.

Poisons created in your own body cause these severe headaches, and you must remove the poisons to get relief of a lasting nature.

By starting the new harmless Cream of Nujol treatment today, you may free yourself from this constant torment.

This new form of Nujol is specially designed to rid you of poisons which very often cause this condition.

Cream of Nujol contains no drugs, and does not in any way interfere with work or play. It is delicious to take. Moreover, you use this modern treatment at a cost of but a few cents a day.

Take Cream of Nujol night and morning. Begin this very night and give it a real trial. Buy it at any drug counter.

HERRIOT AND DUCE MAY HOLD PARLEY

French-Italian Conference Expected on International Affairs.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(UP)—A long-delayed meeting between Premier Edouard Herriot, of France, and Premier Benito Mussolini, of Italy, promising a new era of friendship between the neighbor nations, is probable within the near future, the United Press learned today.

France, through that meeting, hopes to restore a feeling of neighborliness with Italy that will react favorably for both countries.

Andre Tardieu and Aristide Briand, during their time as premier, never actively sought to meet Mussolini. But Herriot, pleased by the Italian reaction to his Toulouse and Paris speeches, in which he praised Italy and admitted she had been treated unjustly in the framing of the peace treaties, is now anxious for such a meeting.

The French premier hopes shortly to invite Mussolini to partake in a discussion of a few points of difference between the two nations—differences which have been accentuated by bitter newspaper comment both in France and Italy.

Herriot, in an exclusive talk with the United Press correspondent, stressed his desire to patch up these differences.

Observers consider that France has only two things to ask of Italy: First, support of the French arms plan at Geneva, and, second, support of France's war debt position before England and the United States.

CONGRESS WILL DELAY HOOVER APPOINTMENTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—With some exceptions, more than 100 nominations to be submitted to the short session of congress by President Hoover probably will be pigeon-holed by the senate until President-elect Roosevelt takes office and makes his own appointments.

This has been the custom when changes of administration take place. It was so when Wilson succeeded Taft and when Harding took office in 1920. It would be a rare procedure if not unprecedented should the democrats let many of Mr. Hoover's appointments go unchallenged.

A definite policy on nominations will be determined at a democratic caucus before the session begins December 5. Then, it will be decided which of a select few will be unopposed, probably a commission member or two who are democrats and nominations of a temporary character, such as that of Roy D. Chapin, of Michigan, who was given a recess appointment August 8 as secretary of commerce.

President Hoover made 30 recess appointments, excluding postmasters since the adjournment of congress last July and 55 nominations including 46 postmasters, remained unconfirmed at the last session.

BANKHEAD NAMED CHIEF OF POLICE OF MIAMI BEACH

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Colonel H. M. Bankhead, for several years an ardent civic worker and member of a prominent Alabama family, was named chief of police here today following the resignation of Michael J. Glenn from the position.

Glenn presented his resignation, which was accepted unanimously by the city council after Mayor Val C. Cleary withdrew charges of misfeasance and conduct unbecoming an officer. Cleary's charges were made a week or so ago. The council was holding a hearing in the case at the time of their withdrawal and Glenn's resignation.

Glenn was cleared of similar charges in a public hearing seven months ago. He formerly lived in Indianapolis.

Bankhead has lived here for several years. He took immediate charge of the police department.

Birthday Celebration For Garner Is Upset
WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—All plans for the Garner family to celebrate the sixty-fourth birthday anniversary today of the speaker and vice president-elect have been upset.

Mrs. Garner said so today upon arrival with the speaker from their travels, Texas, home.

"We had planned a family dinner with turkey tonight, but when Mr. Garner was asked to come to Washington by Mr. Roosevelt and President Hoover, all of that had to be changed," Mrs. Garner said.

Speaker Garner said "I'm going to celebrate my birthday by getting back into harness. A birthday is just another day to me."

SPIVAK CHARGES DENIED.

The prompt denial by Secretary Stanley of the prison commission, of the charges of the American Civil Liberties Union of cruelty in Georgia's prison camps will occasion no surprise to the people of the state.

Mr. Stanley reveals that the charges in the Spivak book, on which the Liberties Union protest is based, are false in their entirety. He further affirms that the photographs contained in the book do not represent scenes ever enacted in a Georgia convict camp, but were posed by a convict bribed for the purpose.

This is not the first time that libelous and untrue charges have been made against the penal system of Georgia by men actuated either by desire for revenge for fancied wrongs, for pecuniary gain or for other selfish reasons.

Especially of late have these charges against the good name of Georgia followed each other in rapid succession. They are no doubt baseless, but they are, nevertheless, bringing the state into disrepute with those in other sections of the country who may see the wide publicity given the allegations of cruelty, but who seldom see their exposure as fakes.

No Georgian would tolerate the existence of such conditions as are being attributed to our prison camps. Especially would this be true of the outstanding Georgians who compose the state prison commission and who are charged with the responsibility of the various camps being conducted in conformity with the law.

Commissioners Rainey, Johns and Stanley are public officials of the highest caliber, whose humanitarianism and devotion to the best interests of the state and the convicts in their charge have been demonstrated time and time again. Such men would not permit to grow up, either through lack of attention, indifference or ignorance, such conditions as charged in the penal system under their direction.

Regardless of the truth or falsity of the Spivak charges, it is clear that the commission should institute an investigation that will uncover every charge made. This investigation should be undertaken at once.

It is manifestly impossible that any such conditions as alleged by Spivak exist in Georgia, but the widespread publicity they have been given by the activity of the American Civil Liberties Union make it imperative that their refutation should be gone about in a manner that will leave no possible room for doubt as to the facts.

THE CHEST CAMPAIGN.

Present indications are that the Community Chest fund will be completed by the end of the week, or so nearly completed as to insure the final raising of the entire amount asked.

The success of the drive is a tribute not only to the generosity of the people of Atlanta but to the mastery manner in which it was directed. In the history of the Chest in Atlanta it has never had to face such adverse conditions, but never before has a better showing been made.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PASSEN.

Far East Easier.

In spite of everything, Lytton reports, the far east is far less tense than it was four months ago. This is chiefly due to the improvement of the relations between Moscow and Tokyo. When I entered the soviet union in May, war in the far east seemed inevitable. Berlin, Warsaw, Riga and even Moscow newspapers were almost hysterical with anticipation. Every move of the Japanese army in Manchuria was reported. Every advance toward bringing the conflict nearer the plans of the Japanese general staff were reported to be a march into Siberia as far as the Baltic lake.

Today such a vast undertaking seems out of the question. The plan probably never existed in the first place. Russia has, moreover, poured reinforcements into Siberia. There can be no question now of a surprise. The situation in Manchuria itself remains unsettled, but the Japanese treasury is by no means inexhaustible. Furthermore, Japan is at grips with an economic depression without parallel. The fantastic plot of the Japanese militarists, if it ever existed, is checked for the moment. But that would mean that Japan is going to withdraw her protection from Manchuria. It would take a counter-attack from the Japanese to achieve this. And even at that, Japan might maintain herself. But even if Japan withdrew today, there would be little to be gained. If Japan is in earnest about recognizing Manchuria as an independent state and will allow it to act as such, the situation is not hopeless at all. A truly independent Manchuria with a stable government ought to be better than a Manchuria in chaos. But really independent, that is understood. Not a Japanese colony. Like Korea, and further leagues, and intriguing with White Russians, as has been reported in the Russian monarchist press in Paris, to set up an eastern Russian monarchist state.

The Japanese are a great people and Japan has a great future. The far east is easier. One would like to see the Japanese keep their escutcheon clean. No more Shantung massacres and none of this brutal, eastern Prussianism. In their present distress, one cannot do otherwise but sympathize with the Japanese masses. Japanese little men and women, whom one came to love through Lafcadio Hearn, deserve a better fate.

Now there will be no cancellation now seems assured.

Indications are that this country will expect the payments due on December 15, but that it will be willing after these payments are made as an evidence of good faith, to then take up the question of when and how future payments are to be made.

This is certainly reasonable. We evidenced our good faith and good will in agreeing to a year's moratorium. Now that this has expired the debtor nations should pay as an evidence of their good faith. It will be time enough after those payments to take up the matter of future payments.

TO REWRITE HOME LOAN ACT.

Distressed home-owners and those who are anxious to take advantage of present low prices of materials and labor to build a home, will be interested in the announcement of Chairman Cochran of the house expenditures committee, that he will seek a broadening of the scope of the new home loan bank system.

As it is, the system, from which such widespread benefits were predicted, gives but little relief, is practically no stimulant to building, and is of no benefit in reducing unemployment.

No relief legislation passed by congress struck more directly at the heart of the nation-wide suffering than did the home loan bank system. It was promised that it would save the homes even of men and women who had lost everything else.

But through over-caution to prevent losses in the operation of this relief, the home loan bank system's opportunity for service was practically nullified.

Through the farm board and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation billions have been advanced on agricultural products and "frozen" securities. When it came to granting loans on the American home, the safest of all security for the government's aid funds, the amount to be advanced is limited to 40 percent of the value of the property.

On such a basis the relief is no relief, because any man having in cash 60 percent of the value of his home will have no trouble in financing it. About the only benefit from the system is the immaterial assistance it renders to building and loan and kindred associations.

What is needed is a home loan system which will be of real assistance to the distressed home-owner, or such an invitation to the would-be owner, as to cause a nation-wide revival of building. The benefits to industry and labor would be greater than has resulted from any other relief measure adopted by the government.

Hitler is given his "big chance" by Hindenburg. Having flubbed two attempts to secure it through his own efforts, it is possible that his vanity has been punctured enough for him to get away with the "give-and-take" job of forming a non-partisan cabinet.

The students of the University of Alabama would undoubtedly be glad to impart information, of a kind, to the federal agents, who, disguised by frosh caps, raked in the favorite bootleggers of the campus.

No relief legislation passed by congress struck more directly at the heart of the nation-wide suffering than did the home loan bank system. It was promised that it would save the homes even of men and women who had lost everything else.

But through over-caution to prevent losses in the operation of this relief, the home loan bank system's opportunity for service was practically nullified.

Through the farm board and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation billions have been advanced on agricultural products and "frozen" securities. When it came to granting loans on the American home, the safest of all security for the government's aid funds, the amount to be advanced is limited to 40 percent of the value of the property.

On such a basis the relief is no relief, because any man having in cash 60 percent of the value of his home will have no trouble in financing it. About the only benefit from the system is the immaterial assistance it renders to building and loan and kindred associations.

What is needed is a home loan system which will be of real assistance to the distressed home-owner, or such an invitation to the would-be owner, as to cause a nation-wide revival of building. The benefits to industry and labor would be greater than has resulted from any other relief measure adopted by the government.

Hitler is given his "big chance" by Hindenburg. Having flubbed two attempts to secure it through his own efforts, it is possible that his vanity has been punctured enough for him to get away with the "give-and-take" job of forming a non-partisan cabinet.

The students of the University of Alabama would undoubtedly be glad to impart information, of a kind, to the federal agents, who, disguised by frosh caps, raked in the favorite bootleggers of the campus.

FATHER AND SON JAILED IN DEATH OF GIRL BRIDE

er the Croys had been placed in the Alphonse jail.

Witnesses at the hearing Tuesday in Atlanta were W. B. Wilson and D. S. Eison, neighbors of the Croys. Wilson said that he saw the younger Croy whip the girl, about a month ago, but he did not remember the date. Eison said that he saw J. K. Croy heading over the girl in the house and that the father-in-law was making motions as if he was whipping her. Croy told him that the doctor had said that there was nothing wrong with the girl, and he was trying to make her go in the house and eat, Eison testified.

Mrs. Croy, mother-in-law of the deceased, said that on the occasion of which Eison spoke, the girl was "snuff-drunk" and that the father-in-law was trying to make her come in the house and eat.

Both Croy and his son, in statements to newspapermen, denied that either one had ever beaten the girl. Eison said that he had never "laid my hand on her, because I loved her too much." His father said that the girl became ill, and that she started to walk to Grady hospital with his wife. He tried to get transportation for them, but failed, Croy said.

The bride of six months started for Grady hospital on Tuesday morning, the way, it was said, she was brought to the hospital on Tuesday of last week, and died on Thursday.

Investigator Pounds said that his questioning of residents of the Alphonse section developed the fact that the girl was married and sturdy in June when she married, and that last week she had tuberculosis and pneumonia, and weighed only 70 pounds. The investigation will be continued today, he said.

METHODISTS OPEN SESSIONS TODAY

building as in recent years, although one new building has been constructed at Bethany, to replace the one destroyed by fire. A new congregation has been organized at Sylvan Hills, and is making rapid growth in that city. Several other congregations have been organized in the city, notably the Druid Hills and St. Mark churches.

Thirty thousand members compose the membership of the 44 churches of the Atlanta district, and this number has been increased this year by 2,000 additions on professional and some 1,500 by certificate. The district's benevolent apportionment is $25,700, of which about $10,000 will be paid, about the same as last year.

Pastors in the Atlanta district will receive their salaries about 10 percent in full. Most of the Atlanta district churches made no reductions for pastoral support this year, while the majority made an advance in amount to be paid. A few made reductions.

A special feature of work this year in Atlanta district churches was attention given to relief work within the churches themselves, independent of the Community Chest effort. A sum of $70,000 was raised by the 44 congregations for this special relief fund for their own members. In addition, the churches made contributions to the work fostered by the Community Chest.

Mrs. Good Elected.

In the newly organized Atlanta district Mrs. Edgar N. Good was elected secretary of the Women's Missionary Society. Mrs. Good has been identified with Atlanta Methodism for many years, connected with the Inman Park and Haywood churches. She is known as possibly the youngest missionary secretary ever known in the North Georgia conference, since she is still in her 20's.

Mrs. Good states that her conference year does not come to a close until the end of the year. She is now in her ninth month, or three-fourths of the year. With the addition of three new auxiliaries in these nine months, the number is now 45 in the district. With an adult membership of 3,586. New auxiliaries were organized at Sylvan Hills, McKendree and Jefferson street churches. Mrs. Good's conference year does not come to a close until the end of the year.

The sum of $23,085 was pledged for the year, of which amount $15,800 was paid in the first nine months. Boxes valued at $2,222 were sent away. Women of the Atlanta district society maintain numerous missionary societies. They are missionaries in Japan and China, and a day school in China. Thirteen Bible women are supported in China, Japan, and Mexico, while 22 foreign scholarships and 19 home scholarships are maintained.

The current year's session of the north Georgia conference, which is to begin formally at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Wesley Memorial church, with Bishop John M. Moore, of Atlanta, presiding. Sessions of the conference will be held three times daily, until next Sunday night, at which time the new pastoral appointments are expected to be read.

It is announced that the conference tonight will formally organize, and probably give attention to reports from the 10 presiding elders. Connected with the opening session tonight the anniversary of the Widows and Orphans Aid Association will be observed. A. J. Sears, of Marietta, is president of the association, with Dr. W. T. Hinnitt, of Griffin, secretary-treasurer.

One of the duties of the conference will be to pass on the suspension of Dr. Robert G. Smith, former pastor of the Spanish Methodist church, who was suspended for a year at the last session after he was convicted in a church trial of "high immorality" and "gross imprudence."

Bishop Moore said that whatever action is taken will be from the conference floor, and that should any charges be made they would be followed through routine investigation. In the event Dr. Smith's presiding elder, Dr. W. H. LaFollette, replies, he will automatically be restored to good standing.

Education Session Thursday.

Thursday's program will be devoted almost entirely to the work of the Atlanta district and the Wesleyan College campaign. At 11 o'clock the conference will observe special services in connection with the Thanksgiving Day, when Bishop Moore will preach.

Special arrangements are in progress for promoting interest in the Wesleyan College campaign. The sum of $1,250,000 for that institution. Appearing on the platform Thursday in connection with the Thanksgiving Day, when Bishop Moore will preach.

North Ave. Church To Hold 32d Thanksgiving Service

All Former Members Invited to Annual Occasion; Musical Programs Will Be Presented.

Unique in Atlanta's Thanksgiving Day worship will be the thirty-second Thanksgiving service to be held at 10 o'clock at the North Avenue Presbyterian church. This service, to which all former members of the church have been invited, will be held in the prayer meeting room, which was finished and occupied before the rest of the church was completed.

As on the first Thanksgiving service, when the 115 charter members were beset with the problem of raising $8,000 to finish construction, the pastor, Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, who started with the church, will preside and the hour will be spent in song, testimony and prayer.

While only 24 of the 115 charter members now remain at North Avenue Presbyterian, it has grown consistently and now has an enrollment of more than 1,200 resident members. In addition to all former members to renew the family tie for the day, an invitation has been extended to others to worship there and especially to those who have no local church connection.

At St. Philip's, the cathedral chorus will render a special program at the 10:30 a. m. Thanksgiving Day service. The offertory anthem will be "Praise the Lord," by J. H. Maunders, with baritone solo by Frank C. Eastman Jr. J. Louis Sayre, organist and choirmaster, will render an organ prelude the antique con moto movement from Beethoven's famous fifth symphony.

Annual Union Thanksgiving services in the vicinity of the state capital will be held at 10:30 o'clock at the First Christian church, Rev. C. R. Stauffer, pastor, presiding.

Rev. W. T. McElveen will conduct a Thanksgiving service at the Congregational Christian church at 8 o'clock tonight. This is an annual custom at this church.

A special Thanksgiving program, arranged by Gordon Singleton, will feature the regular weekly meeting of the Atlanta Masonic Club, at 12:30 today at the Wincoff hotel. Judge Max Land will be the speaker and Enrico Leide will be in charge of the musical program.

In addition to a Thanksgiving service from 11:50 to 12:20 today at Girls' High school, to be conducted by Rev. Robert Tyler, each class this afternoon will distribute two or three baskets to needy Atlantans who would otherwise not have a typical Thanksgiving dinner.

ARTHRITIS SUFFERER FINDS EFFECTIVE TREATMENT

A retired business man of Pasadena, who had been unable to walk for more than three years as the result of Arthritis (stiff joints), reports that he finally secured a prescription which not only brought him freedom from pain, but restored him to a life of normal activity. He then supplied the formula to a number of others who were afflicted with ailments resulting from excessive uric acid, such as Arthritis, Neuritis, Lumbago, Gout, Sciatica, and various other forms of Rheumatism, and they, too, reported their first relief. Renton's Hydrocin Tablets are prescribed by many physicians and endorsed by the leading druggists. No matter what other treatments you have taken or how badly you have suffered from any form of Rheumatism caused by excessive uric acid, you should give Renton's Hydrocin Tablets a trial. Just send name and address to: Renton, Desk AR, Pasadena, Calif., or ask Jacobs Pharmacy Co., Lane Drug Store, or any druggist. Do this today. (adv.)

If It's Iron the Crackers Are Needing, Colonel Huston Will Supply It.

Maybe the man with the iron hat, Colonel Tillinghast L'Hommiedu Huston, will be able to put some of the iron into the Crackers.

He used to put some into the Yankees when he and the affable Jake Ruppert owned the Yankees together. They were very affable together, those two, with two exceptions.

Both took oaths they would never take any part in the action on the field. Each broke that oath once.

There was a "salted" pitcher who looked very, very good and Colonel Huston bought him. The pitcher won his first game and the colonel began to look at Jake Ruppert with something akin to scorn. But after that the pitcher was terrible and proved a very great bust, as the boys say.

It got so Colonel Huston couldn't come around the office. Every time he came around Jake Ruppert would start talking about people who thought they were scouts and who bought expensive pitchers who turned out to be terrible busts.

And then one day Jake Ruppert succumbed. He purchased an outfielder. The first game saw the outfielder hitting that baseball. And after that he missed them all and fly balls caromed off his head and bounded far, far away.

And so it was Colonel Huston's time. He made up a little rhyme about outfielders and people who bought them. Colonel Jake Ruppert didn't come around the office for weeks. It was very painful when he did.

The two separated, Huston selling his interests and retiring to his Georgia farm with its great barns and its lowing herds. And the long rows of satsuma orange trees.

And now he is bringing his iron hat to the Crackers. The colonel was in Atlanta yesterday on business. "The boys used to make me wear that hat away up in July," he said. "It brought them luck. It got so every taxi driver in New York knew me. They'd honk their horns at that iron hat in July."

The colonel was wearing an old felt fedora yesterday. I urged him to purchase some new iron hats. The iron will be tested thoroughly as it must be a very high grade of iron. The Crackers need lots of it. The colonel will very likely need a half dozen iron hats. The directors have agreed to purchase Colonel Tillinghast L'Hommiedu an iron hat each day if needed. The Crackers must have iron.

NEW PLAYS FOR SATURDAY.

Coaching staffs at Tech and Georgia are busy cooking up some dainty dishes to set before King Football Fan on Saturday at Grant field.

Both teams have been scouted so thoroughly that rival coaches can tell you the table manners, if any, of each boy. And what sort of tooth paste he uses. And so on.

Hence the cooking up of something new for the Saturday contest at the Flats. The fans may expect to be slightly pop-eyed at some of the new stuff from Athens and Tech.

If the Georgia team bounces back from that defeat at Columbus, it will offer an offense considerably stronger than Tech's. For one thing Mr. Harry Mehre has more good backs. He turned loose a line-bucker in Joe Crouch. And Buster Mott, Cy Grant, Bill David, Buck Chapman and one or two others are also very good at finding their way about on the football field.

But Tech is moving forward. The Jackets are elated, care-free and confident. They took Alabama and Florida on successive Saturdays and would swap a few eye teeth for a victory over Georgia. There has been a long drought at Tech for some time. And the boys would like to end it. They have a better defense. And they are sure to score one, two or three touchdowns.

Georgia has been a mechanical team. It has worked faithfully and hard but there is not enough experience on it to make it a team with initiative. That comes only with experience.

The game will make or break the winter for both. A victory will ease the Georgia wounds. A victory for Tech would mean a really great come-back. Because this Tech team is blessed with no unusual ability. It is one which has made its way forward by great spirit and meticulous attention to detail. And Mike Chambers has them in wonderful condition.

THE BIG FELLOW ROARS.

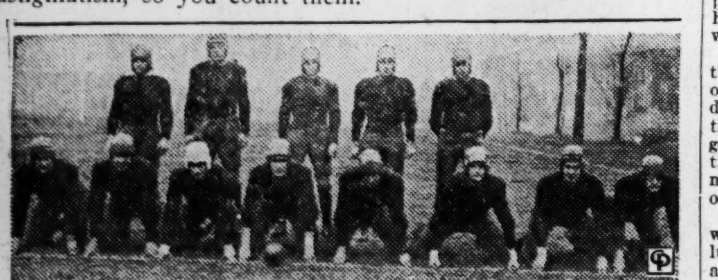

There was a very great suspicion, out Peachtree road yesterday, that the bull of Bashan was out roaring. But it was only Mr. Harry Robertson coaching his football team.

When Mr. Robertson roars like the bull of Bashan it is a very good sign that the Stormy Petrels will come out roaring against the Mercer Bears on Thursday afternoon at Hermance stadium. The very fences were trembling at Hermance and a few of the stones in the stadium were dislodged as Mr. Robertson roared at his team.

The Mercer Bears are doped to win by several squads of touchdowns. But the Bears always find the Petrels to be troublesome. It should be an excellent game. And the benches should be filled with people because the competition will be fierce and there are some real football players in the game.

WELL, NO WONDER!

It is no wonder that your old handicapper pulled the wrong one out of the hat in guessing on the Yale-Harvard game last Saturday. The Central Press has just brought in a picture of the Yale team as it lined up against Harvard. Maybe it's my astigmatism, so you count them.

YALE'S LAST LINE-UP—Here's how Elis looked when they lined up for final game with Harvard in New Haven, Conn.

If the Yales lined up with those 13 men I think that Harvard should have protested at least once. Sportsmanship is one thing, but this is another. No wonder Yale won. If they'd played with, say just 12 men, I think Harvard would have come through.

TULANE'S SAD STATE.

One wonders if the Tulane team will rise, phoenix-like, from the hospital beds to crush L. S. U.? With 15 men in the hospital with colds and influenza it may be that Biff Jones is going to deliver the Tulane scalp to Huey Long this year instead of next. If so, Huey Long will make Biff Jones commander-in-chief of the army by Christmas.

Harvard-Princeton May Not Play Till '37

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Although relations between Harvard and Princeton appear to be patched up as good as new, a football meeting between the two institutions appears unlikely until 1937, unless the Crimson abolishes its one-game-from-home restriction. All eight games on the 1933 schedule will be played in Cambridge and the following year the Crimson will again journey to the Yale bowl, scene of Saturday's disaster, and in 1935 will play Army at West Point. It will wind up the 1936 season at New Haven.

The 1933 schedule: October 7, Bates; October 14, New Hampshire; October 21, Holy Cross; October 28, Dartmouth; November 4, Lehigh; November 11, Army; November 18, Brown; November 25, Yale.

MEHRE SEEKS TO STRENGTHEN RESERVE POWER

Most of Regulars Rest as Second String Is Scrimmaged.

By Al Smith.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 22.—Harry Mehre, who probably would have been a general in the army if he hadn't decided to be a football coach, today moved to strengthen his reserves in case they are called into action Saturday to succor the veterans who have done battle on far-flung gridirons this fall.

The reserves are a vital part of any army, be it football or the army of a modern Napoleon. Upon the reserves falls the duty of backing up the boys on the front line when the forces of the enemy overpower them or when the lads on front have become weary with so many engagements with the enemy. So this afternoon Harry Mehre had his second-stringers, the men who must relieve his varsity if there is any relief Saturday, down there on Sanford field working hard on their offense and learning something about the offense of Georgia Tech.

Varsity rests.

Georgia's varsity, tired by Saturday after Saturday of hard-fought games, was given another rest today, a rest necessitated by the battered condition the Bulldog veterans are in after their terrific afternoon against Auburn last Saturday. Only three of the backs who took part in Saturday's game were in today's scrimmage with the freshmen, and the rest of the regular line men were out there.

While the reserves polished up their offense against Johnny Broadnax's freshman team, the veterans went through their plays and got a bit of exercise. The boys who threw a scare into Auburn Saturday are being given a chance to round back into good shape before they get any more rough work. Buster Mott, who came out of the game with a badly cut lip, and others went up early today.

The shades of darkness and already begun to fall over Sanford field when Harry Mehre called a halt to the duel between his young substitutes and the Red Devils, who began running Yellow Jacket plays against them after the freshmen had retired vanquished from an attempt to halt the Bulldogs. The bitter cold added zest to the play of the 22 young men but those on the sidelines were not so enthusiastic about the weather. Harry Mehre lived the cold, for it made his young men work harder in order to keep warm.

Second-string good.

Georgia second-stringers turned in a creditable performance against the freshmen but their defensive tactics against the Yellow Jackets, alias the Red Devils, left much to be desired. The line had "Yank" Ludwig at center; Hut Parks and John Brown at guards; Bull Cooper and Crawford Gannels, tackles; and Charley Turbyville and Mack Crenshaw, ends. In the backfield were: Chapman and Sam Brown, halfbacks, and Joe Crouch, fullback.

A long scrimmage, in which the regulars will probably take part, is set for Wednesday afternoon, with another one coming Thursday to top off the Bulldogs' preparations for their clash with Georgia Tech at Grant field Saturday afternoon.

Lloyd Gilmore, veteran fullback, who has been out for a week with an injured hip, was back in uniform today. He may be ready to play Saturday.

Students howl at game change.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 22.—(UP)—Students of the University of South Carolina were noisily insistent tonight that the game with Auburn scheduled for December 3 at Macon be scheduled and not in Birmingham, Alabama.

South Carolina's football team is the only one standing between Auburn and its first Southern conference championship eleven in over 10 years. Auburn is untied and unbeaten and is expected to beat South Carolina. The students at a mass meeting tonight asserted that they wanted to see the almost-champions and discussed obtaining a injunction to keep the game from being played in Birmingham instead of here, as originally scheduled.

A resolution was made Monday for financial reasons. School authorities said the only time South Carolina had made any money in home games this year was when it played here. The athletic director said it would cost $4,500 to bring Auburn's team here; that a much larger crowd could be drawn in Birmingham, which is larger than Columbia.

At tonight's mass meeting the students appointed a committee to meet with college authorities and seek to have the game brought back here.

Jack Hall, a law student, asserted his belief that a temporary injunction, restraining the team from playing in the game, could be obtained on the grounds that the students' season tickets which included the Auburn game to be played in Columbia, provided a form of contract.

Luke Williamson, Aiken, S. C., and president of the student body, said he did not think the court action would be resorted to.

After denouncing the transfer of the game, the students adopted a resolution calling for a holiday on Friday and Saturday, December 2-3, that they might go to Birmingham for the game. The resolution demanded low transportation fares and called for admittance to the game at Birmingham on their season tickets.

The university athletic association was the meeting's next target. Resolutions addressed to the trustees and asking action against the association for operation of the lunch room and school book store were adopted.

In protesting transfer of the game it was pointed out that the Carolina team has played from Philadelphia to New Orleans this fall and the resolution said the team was being converted into a "Pullman Conductors' Club."

Dr. R. K. Foster, athletic director, was not at the meeting and could not be reached for a statement.

Eight Bulldogs End Careers on Saturday

ATHENS, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Eight University of Georgia football players end their collegiate careers in Atlanta Saturday against Georgia Tech.

Heading the list is Buster Mott, the star of last week's duel with Auburn. The others are: Center, Van McWhorter; end, Fred Miller; guard, Billy Hazlehurst; end, Mack Crenshaw; quarterback, Sully Sullivan; end, Dick Maxwell, and fullback, Lloyd Gilmore.

Maxwell will not play in the final game and there is only a possibility that Gilmore will be used. Gilmore has suffered from injuries for several weeks. Physicians ordered Maxwell to give up football some time ago, due to a slight concussion he received.

PETREL SPIRIT NEVER BETTER FOR OLD RIVALS

Robby's Team, Virtually Free From Injury, Is Ready for Mercer.

By Jack Troy.

Harry Robertson, stormy petrel of Peachtree road, who has been working overtime in his one-man coaching huddle this week, announces to the wide, wide world this morning that the Oglethorpe will give Mercer a battle in tomorrow's Thanksgiving Day game at Hermance field.

"We have been working slowly and carefully this week," he said. "From the start scrimmages were scratched off the program. There is only one injury on the squad and I think I can safely say we are in the best condition of the season."

"We'll give Mercer a battle," declared Robby in the determined manner of a war-time commander.

Coch Robertson, who is notoriously reticent about making pre-game statements, would seem to have something saved up for special use against Mercer.

The methodical manner in which the Stormy Petrels have been prepared for the annual contest, the fine spirit of the players and the absence of injuries are pertinent factors to be considered.

Especially does the absence of injuries serve a double purpose. It has been a psychological as well as a physical handicap for the Petrels to come up week after week with key men on the sidelines.

But now, with only one player—Nammie Raines, a back—unable to play, the Petrels are confident of putting on a real 60-minute charge.

Mercer's Dick McNabb, a fine pair of guards; Johnny Cimperman, a triple-threat back, whose forte is kicking; Joe Marion, a guard, and Joe Sevier.

BEST SEEN 1924. Lake Russell, Sheet Horner and Tiger Bennett have turned out to be the best Mercer team since 1924. In that year Mercer rode over every opponent except Oglethorpe. They still recall that season vividly in Macon.

Oglethorpe was going great in 1920 and Mercer came along and defeated the Petrels, 2 to 0, at Macon.

Both teams are in the habit of springing a little surprise like that when one or the other seems to have an insurmountable advantage.

Tickets may still be bought at Marshall's store in the Flatiron building with Oglethorpe absorbing the tax. Choice seats are selling for $1.50 and general admission seats for $1.00. Seats bought at the stadium will include tax and will be $1.65 and $1.10. Frank Anderson, athletic director, announces a large advance sale of tickets.

Golf Post Is Held By Lowry Arnold

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—With the exception of B. C. Hardenbrook of Chicago, and C. F. Young, of Dayton, Ohio, the list of officials of the Western Golf Association will stand without change for next year.

Hardenbrook, treasurer for many years, and Young, a member of the board of directors, resigned, and the slate nominations, Joseph E. Magnus, of Chicago, replaces the former, and Robert Gaylord, of Rockford, Ill., succeeds Young.

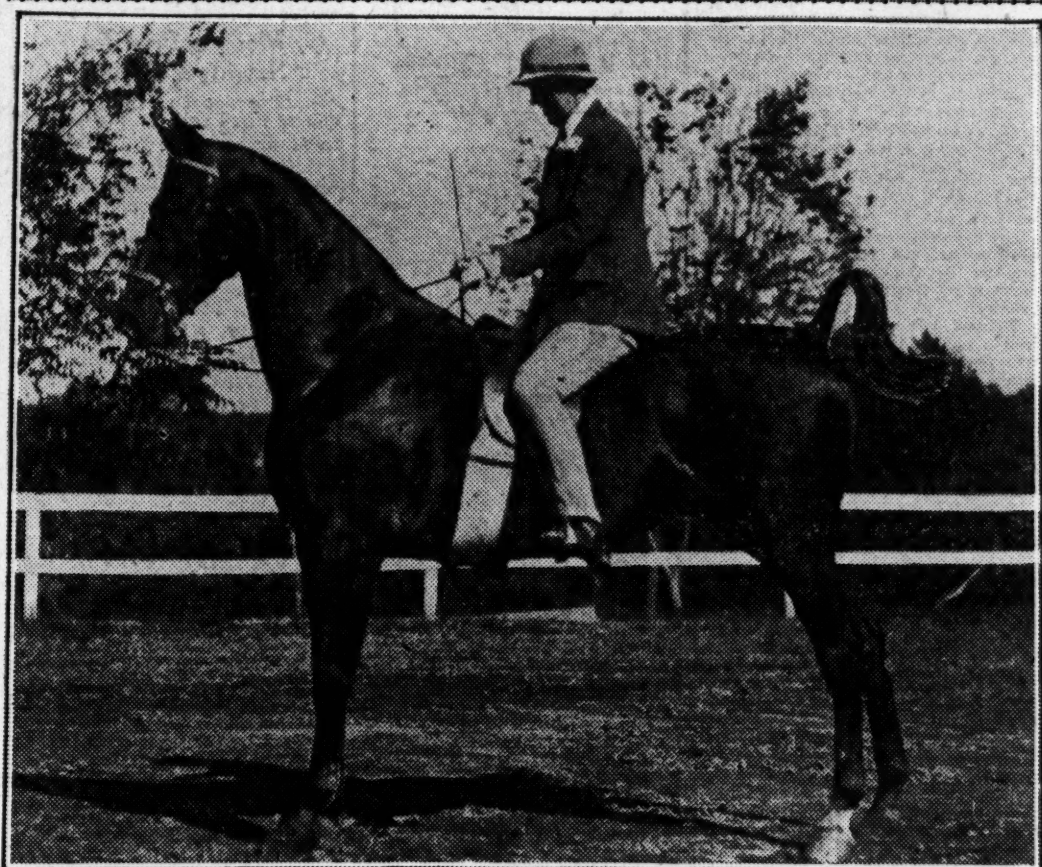

E. Arr V. Wood, Chicago, president, heads the slate, which includes H. C. Gifford, Ocean Springs, Miss.; vice president; Henry C. Hartholomae, Lake Geneva, Wis.; secretary; Lowry Arnold, Atlanta, Ga.; Everett H. Seaver, Los Angeles; G. H. Raleigh, Tacoma, Wash.; and George W. Snyder, Kansas City, directors.

N. G. I. C. Officials To Meet Saturday

Election of officers, discussion of the basketball schedule and other important matters will feature a meeting of the North Georgia Intercollegiate conference at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Joe Benn's office at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Every member of the conference is urged to have a representative present, as it will be one of the most important meetings of the fall season.

Blueblood of the Horse Show Ring

Brunnhilde, the three-gaited chestnut mare shown above, ridden by her owner, Mrs. Caleb Horne, is one of the handsomest entries in the Thanksgiving Day horse show to be held in the Garden Hills ring, starting promptly at 1 o'clock. Admission to the public will be free, and attractive trophies, in addition to ribbons, have been provided for the finest harness horse and the winner in the model horse division.

Wilson Judge Southern League Heads In Horse Show Have Greater Worries

Managers Will Find Plenty To Tear Hair About; Less Money, Fewer Men.

By Jimmy Jones.

Southern league baseball clubs, like our old friends, the republicans, might as well go out and get themselves "toughened" to the situation now.

If they found it hard getting along with 17 ball players and 12 Class A men during the 1932 season, pray what will be their reaction to one less ball player and two less Class A players during the 1933 season?

At last the sharp blade of economy has invaded the higher leagues of the country. The Southern league, in session in Memphis, legislated a number of moves for the curtailing of spending.

The reduction of the player lists likewise is aimed at more and better economy. The matter of Class A and Class B men may mean absolutely nothing to the man in the street, but to the managers it is something to tear plenty of hair about. It means that they must go out and round up two more "B" boys, or to be perfectly frank, two more rookies, for their rosters. These callow lads must take the place of veterans players.

At the same time they must watch their P's and Q's as well as their A's and B's on their player limits. They cannot have more than 16 active men on the list at any time. This will work the greatest hardship on the pitching staff. Most managers like most of their pitchers to be Class A chumpers, or seasoned performers.

Last summer there was plenty of reasoning among the managers because they had to carry five Class B players on their rosters of 17 men. This was little danger of any more high active players being taken on by the clubs with plenty of money. They will be expected to apportion the salaries on a mere average of $300 per month per player, excluding the manager.

Doing likewise. Other leagues over the country have either preceded or followed the Southern's example. The class A player association dropped its salary and player limit. The Coast league made a similar reduction. Economy and development are the keynote.

These innovations at least offer a chance to the financially embarrassed club owners to get out of the red. The club that is in less than a financial straits may have something at the gate now.

The reduction of the waiver price in the Southern from $2,500 to $1,000 should have its good results. Few players upon whom waivers are asked nowadays are worth more than that. That and the clause which forbids a club from importing major league players after August 1 are important too. Few clubs who have acted wisely in building their personnel in advance will need major league help after August 1, anyway.

All in all, the directors did a pretty good job of it at Memphis. It was tough on the managers and ball players, but it at least assures the perpetuation of the leagues, which is the important thing.

St. Mary's Stars Are Suspended

MORAGA, Cal., Nov. 22.—(AP)—After Brovelli cracked fullback, and Mike Steponovich, first string guard, of the St. Mary's College football team, were under temporary suspension today as the result of breaking training rules.

Two other stars, Charley Baird, halfback, and Garry Vivaldi, end, were reinstated after having been previously ordered off the squad.

The four were ordered to turn in their suits after they stayed in Los Angeles without permission after the game there November 11 with the University of California at Los Angeles.

Louis Lefevre, graduate manager, said Baird and Vivaldi had been reinstated because of their fine scholastic records but that some action would be taken in the cases of Brovelli and Steponovich.

Thomasville Meets Albany Hi Thursday

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Nov. 22.—The undefeated Cadets of the Georgia Military College will face their ancient rivals, Gordon Institute, in an annual Thanksgiving game on Davenport field.

The Cadets go into the game as the underdogs for the first time this year. Kid Cecil's team is a heavy favorite to trim the Cadets. Kid Cecil has the keynote in every game this year and he comes to Milledgeville determined to win his first game from the Red and Black since he started coaching at Gordon six years ago.

TECH PLAYERS DRILL AGAINST GEORGIA PLAYS

Long Defensive Workout Is Held Under Coach Alex's Supervision.

By Jimmy Jones.

While their old college chums were brewing some dark plots over at Athens—an hour's ride away when Jack Cannon is driving—Georgia Tech's football squad yesterday began concentrating upon one thing: the quick trigger plays of the Georgia backfield.

Coch W. A. Alexander, muffled to the ears in an old overcoat, superintending the scrimmage—one of the many he has superintended in preparation for Georgia.

Until the big floodlights were switched on, the Tech players were in the mood, look out! You can bet the old fellows that he is seriousness itself for the rest of the week.

This is going to be a close football game. No one realizes it so much as the Tech coach. One of his problems is that of a winner. Norris Dean is definitely out of the game, the long-legged sophomore who booted such gorgeous spirals over the heads of Alabama, has not yet returned to school.

Galloway, Sid Williams, Roy McArthur, Jan Hart, John Ferguson and even Pat Barron were drafted for punting practice yesterday. Every toe on the squad is being tried out. A lot will depend upon kicking in that game—particularly when Georgia is known not to be heavily endowed with the same.

Twenty yards gained on an exchange of punts are as good as any other 20 yards.

So much for that. Yesterday the Freshmen and Gray Devils presented Georgia plays to the varsity. A big halfback from Chester, S. C., named H. S. Martin was the battering ram for the attackers. Although ineligible as a freshman, he is a strong one.

tin is one of the players this year. Martin is one of the strongest players in the first year squad. He carried the ball in the best style of the Georgia backs, particularly on spin plays and backs.

CANNON IN ACTION. Jack Cannon worked hard polishing up the varsity line for this scrimmage. They were coached in what to expect from the Notre Dame line attack. The second-string line got a good baptism of crashing helmets with the Gray Devils.

Tech's line play Saturday must be strong to beat Georgia. That and the blinding sun, from a standpoint of offense and the plentitude of good backs, Georgia is on a par with the husky young Georgia line has played in-and-out football. If Tech's line play is superior, the football edge is that of the Jackets.

The way Jack Phillips is being primed in the scrimmages, this big play is a real considerable work Saturday. Chances are that Georgia will start its seniors against Georgia. From a sentimental as well as a feasible angle one may expect this.

No less than 12 players who go into that game will appear for the last time at Grant field. They will play against the old foe, the far west coast, of course, but few Georgia fans will see that game.

Here are the players who say au revoir to the Flats Saturday: Captain H. C. Neblett, center; Little Rock; J. T. (Casey) Jones, guard; Newman, Ga.; J. Q. (Quince) Adams, center; Fitzgerald, Ga.; J. W. (Jerry) Goldsmith, end; Atlanta; George E. Viereck, end, Columbus, Ohio; Sidney Williams, end, Savannah, Ga.; J. Roy McArthur, quarterback, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Hugh P. Gooding, quarterback, Macon, Ga.; J. W. (Jap) Hart, halfback, Dorthan, Ala.; Ben T. Cherry, fullback, Chattanooga, Tenn.; L. F. (Pat) Barron, halfback, Clarksville, Georgia.

DOCTORS TREAT GELBERT'S LEG

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Charles Gelbert, star shortstop of the St. Louis Cardinals, chattered cheerfully in his hospital room today as doctors treated his left leg preparatory to an operation for a gunshot wound he received while hunting.

"From now on, I'll confine myself to golf," he said.

"I'll bet you don't mean it," Mrs. Gelbert replied.

"Honor bright," he answered, holding out his right hand. "I know now there is nothing safe about a gun." Gelbert was brought to a Philadelphia hospital yesterday from Chambersburg.

Physicians at the hospital said his future baseball career may depend upon the success of the operations, in which they hope to graft several nerves to replace a number torn by the shotgun charge.

Bud Rogers Wins In Skate Race

Coming from behind in the final laps, Lord "Bud" Rogers, of 281 Greenwood avenue, outdistanced four other heat winners to place first in the roller skate races held Tuesday night at the Palais Penetras rink.

Donald Cone, of 106 North avenue, trailed Rogers by less than five seconds around the six-lap course, about a third of a mile, to finish second. Charles McCone, of 251 Norwood avenue, placed third.

In a ladies' race staged at the conclusion of the free-for-all event, Miss Zola Dahling, of 116 Merritts avenue, won first place from a field of 10 entries. Miss Jean Gardner, of 587 Fowler street, placed second.

Cox Worried Over Loss Of Stars

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Injuries to the Red Sox, the flimsy of the flimsy that has put 10 members of the Tulane Green Wave to bed, tonight had Coach Ted Cox worried as he continued to pray for the old team with Louisiana State at Baton Rouge Saturday.

Players suffering from the flu included: Charlie Calhoun, tackle; Dick Hardy, end; Pete Cunningham, tackle; Francis Payne, halfback, who has been out with a broken collarbone; "Little Monk" Simmons, halfback; Louis Boasberg, tackle; Gus Clarke, end; John McAdams, tackle; John Bruno, halfback, and John Read, center.

Six other players are nursing injuries that will either keep them out of the game or handicap their play. Bobby Jones, reported strayed definitely from the amateur rank by his decision to make motion pictures, was named an honorary vice president. Other elected officers were: Vice president-at-large, Frederick Brandt, New York, and W. C. Remann, Kansas City; sectional vice presidents, James Wilson, Chicago; Daniel Goss, Birmingham, Ala., and Thomas Boyd, New York; secretary, R. W. Treacey, Milwaukee; treasurer, Jack Mackie, New York.

NO DEFEATS.

The Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Professional Grid league, have not met defeat for three seasons.

Godfree and Hutson Lost to Crimston Tide

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Two regulars will be missing from the University of Alabama lineup Thanksgiving as the Red Elephants seek to turn back the Commodore Commodore of Vanderbilt.

Newt (Bad Man) Godfree, tackle, and Donald Hutson, promising sophomore end, both are definitely out. Godfree has been bothered with a bad knee all season and it was injured again in the Georgia Tech game, eliminating him from possibilities Thursday.

Hutson, a fine pass receiver, also received an injury to a foot and has been on crutches since the Georgia Tech clash.

John (Hurricane) Cain, triple threat fullback, will play, but the punting duty will be shifted to Millard Howell, flashy sophomore.

Coach Frank Thomas said his squad could be in fair shape otherwise, but that the team had not scrimmaged since the Tech game because of injuries.

SMITHIES LEAD PREP PARADE IN HOMESTRETCH

T. H. S. Meets Miami
Stingarees; Others
Leave Today.

By Roy White.

Tech High's football team leads the prep parade into the home stretch of the season with Coach Tolbert and 30 youngsters speeding to Miami, Fla., where the Smithies meet the Miami Stingarees Thursday afternoon.

Coach High and T. H. S. will depart tonight for Thanksgiving Day games. The Purple Hurricane plays Andrew Jackson at Jacksonville and the Cadets renew old relations with Lanier High in the Mercer stadium at Marion.

Thursday's games mark the final round in the North Georgia Intercollegiate conference with two games slated here and two other teams meeting outside opponents.

Tech High faces one of the strongest prep teams in Florida when it meets Miami Thursday. Both Lanier and Boyd High have beaten Miami, but the Stingarees will present a much stronger team against Tech High, since several of their injured players have returned to the lineup.

Following are the Smithies making the trip:

Castroville and Oakes. Guards—Hinson, Callaway, McGaughey, Jenkins, Dumas and McKinney. Tackles—Barrow, Orr, Allen, Mossman, Davis and Coyne.

Ends—Boomer, Evans, Pittman, Green and Tiers. Backs—Barnes, Baldwin, Perry, Crawford, Ellis, Dowling, Steckle, Ratter, Dowl, Friend and Flann.

Deatur High, defending champion, plays Griffin High at 10 o'clock Thursday at Deatur. Deatur is undefeated and is at the end of the third season in which they have been successful seasons in which they have not been beaten by a Georgia opponent.

Griffin High lost a game to Russell High early in the season, but since that time the Spalding county eleven has come along fast and will give Deatur a hard game.

Fulton and Marist, beaten in the N. G. I. C. championship race, will meet at 10 o'clock Thursday at Ponce de Leon park for fifth place in the N. G. I. C. It marks the close of the season of both and each team will put forth every effort to clinch the schedule with a victory.

Russell High, with second place in the N. G. I. C. assured, plays Druid Hills High at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at East Point. Druid Hills is not a member of the conference but will give Russell plenty of trouble.

Druid Hills has improved fast in the past three weeks and is no set-up for any prep team.

MORRIS BROWN LOOKS TO TITLE

Atlanta's assured some fine colored collegiate football on Thanksgiving Day when the Morris Brown Wolverines, undefeated leader of the Southern colored conference, faces the Clark University Panthers at Ponce de Leon park.

This clash will not only settle the championship status of Morris Brown but will decide the present tie between Clark and Morris Brown for the city championship, both teams having defeated Morehouse by decisive scores.

Clark is considered the greatest threat the Browns have met this season. They possess a fast-running and passing attack, built around Carl Ray, triple-threat quarterback, who also is a field runner, passing and punting has been the sensation of the season.

Billy Nicks and Joe Lockhart, of the Wolverines, have developed the best team in the history of the school.

McDuffie, Bozo Fight Thursday

Rene McDuffie, of East Point, will meet Battling Bozo, of Atlanta, in the feature match at the East Point auditorium Thursday night.

McDuffie is a great fighter as these boys put up a real battle a few weeks ago with Bozo winning a hair-line decision. Promoter Boal has secured Lou Silvers, old Atlanta favorite, who has moved his dental office here from Tampa, Fla., where he has been practicing since he hung up the gloves, as referee.

The semi-final pits Charlie (East Point) Brown against Billy Carter, of Atlanta.

Joe Mendoza, game little Spaniard, and Barney Mulkey, of Egan, Ga., featherweights, will meet in a six-rounder. A splendid set of preliminaries have been lined up. The first bout starts at 8:15.

Two Atlanta Boys
Get Princeton Insignia

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 22.—Emmett R. Rushin and Robert L. Nevitt, both of Atlanta, are included among the 119 graduates who have been awarded insignia in recognition of their service on the various football teams of Princeton University, according to an announcement by Asa S. Bushnell, graduate manager of athletics.

The former, a sophomore, receives an "APA" award as a member of the 150-pound football team, while Nevitt is given his class numbers as a member of the championship freshman squad. Nineteen varsity men received the major "P."

NEW ENGLAND'S CARNIVAL.

It is only fitting that one of football's biggest games, set for Thanksgiving Day, should be played in the section that first helped to make Thanksgiving famous. There have been more exciting Thanksgiving Days when Pilgrim descendants had to tackle turkeys and block Indians at the same time, but they never caused so much talk as this coming meeting between Colgate and Brown at Providence on Thursday.

You must know by now how heavy the odds are against any one team running a season's blockade without getting beaten or tied.

Yet here are two teams which reach their closing game under these happy stars for football. They are arranged to meet N. Y. U. Penn State, Lafayette, Syracuse and Brown, that looked to be a good season's work. I think, at that, Lafayette is much stronger than her team looked to be against us. Syracuse, also, is nobody's set-up.

I know we haven't been so well tested as Brown has been, but I don't think that will make any great difference in this next game.

This statement was made in combatting the argument that Brown, having been under heavier fire, would be better equipped for a game where the next strain is sure to be tremendous.

Brown has had to battle its way through a series of hard fights and close calls with Colgate and Cornell, as well as skill, were needed down the stretch.

Both teams are so well equipped with veterans with experience, that no mental crash on either side is expected.

Brown has Chase and Buonomano to run her attack, and Colgate has Soles and Smith to keep backfield and forwards on top of the job.

The quarterback joust between Soles and Chase will be the leading feature of the day. So will the line breaking between Gammino and Soles. The season may have shown no teams better balanced along both front lines and backfield posts.

The Long Road.

"One trouble with football," H. L. D. writes, "is a season drawn out from many cases from late September to New Year's day. The season is drawn out on one sport that football demands, the heavy physical and the heavy mental pressure, should never be carried over into the winter. November, that was the old order. Today I see a continued December schedule and there will, of course, be the annual." This long season touches off a few universities. The Western conference season, permitting only seven games, has been played already. Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Columbia and Dartmouth are through. Brown, Colgate, Pennsylvania, Cornell and many other leading eastern teams, most of the final southern games are played on Thursday or Saturday, a few games will be played up their true late to meet in November, so their ancient scrap goes into December. Only a few games will be left on the card after Saturday.

There is little question that football has become a physical, mental and nervous side is too heavy to be carried beyond November. Seven or eight games are quite enough for Fordham and the East.

Eastern football is more than obliged to Fordham for her double victory over St. Mary's and Oregon State.

It was a stirring double act on the part of a team which had been beaten twice and which had hope that enough left to turn a losing battle into a counter-attack after the tide had been so heavy the other way in past years.

U. S. Debt Attitude Defended by Reading

LONDON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Lord Reading, former ambassador to the United States and one of Britain's elder statesmen, pleaded in an address before the English-Speaking Union tonight for an understanding of America's attitude toward the war debts.

After outlining the reasons for the British hope that the December 15 payment will be postponed, the former ambassador stressed the desirability of saying nothing or doing nothing which would embitter relations between Britain and the United States.

Americans also are taxed heavily, he said, and many of them feel that a reduction of the war debt burden and its assumption by themselves would be unjustified.

BOWL OFFICIALS REMAIN SILENT

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Tournament of Roses football officials were noncommittal today when informed the Michigan football team, the student body favored their appearance in the annual New Year's Day game here.

As always, the western team will be selected first at a meeting of Rose Tournament officials and local sports writers. The western team will extend the record of the eastern team, which has won 10 of 11 games, to 11 when that school has indicated unofficially that it is willing to accept.

Alumni of Big Ten schools have in seasons past taken steps toward getting the rule against post-season games lifted in the hope of seeing one of the long-range football games in action, but not since 1920, when California beat Ohio State, 28 to 0, has an official invitation been extended to the western conference.

It is known, however, that the University of California at Los Angeles and the University of Southern California, the two teams which would be in the running for the western selection, would be in favor of a game with Michigan if the rule were lifted.

Officials of each school naturally decline to comment at this time.

No western choice will be made until the Thanksgiving Day games between Southern California and Washington at Seattle and U. C. L. A. and Washington State at Los Angeles.

Emory Sports

Harvey Hill's Freshman football team trounced the Sophomores, 20-0, Wednesday afternoon in the last game of the Emory intramural season. This was the sixth straight loss for the Sophomores.

Charlie Conner, quarterback, and Bailey and Josiah Flournoy were high lights in the Freshman victory. Bailey scored the extra point and Flournoy scored the touchdown.

The first touchdown came early in the first quarter after the Freshmen recovered from a turnover. The score was 6-0. A few minutes later, Bailey scored the second touchdown. His wife, who was in the stands, was very excited.

The second quarter saw the Freshmen score again. The score was 12-0. The third quarter saw the Freshmen score again. The score was 18-0.

The fourth quarter saw the Freshmen score again. The score was 20-0. The game ended with a final score of 20-0.

The sensible way—the doctor's way—of treating that sluggish, "run-down" condition is to use Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Try it instead of something just to "move the bowels." See how much better you feel—and continue to feel for days after! The anti-acid action clears the system of all those poisons that cause headaches, fatigue, loss of appetite. Get the genuine; look for Phillips on the wrapper.

Also in tablet form. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

'Quick-Triggered' Youth Seen as Worst Bandits

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 22.—(AP) The "quick-triggered" youth of Tennessee and Mississippi Sheriffs and Peace Officers Association was told today, causes law enforcement officers more trouble than the man with a hungry family.

"It isn't so much the man whose family is hungry that robs," Sheriff W. J. Bacon, Memphis, told the convention. "It is the worthless young punk who wants to lead a gay life. He desires good times without putting forth any effort to earn a dollar."

The menace today is the youth between the ages of 17 and 22. He is quick on the trigger of a gun. He is ready and willing to commit any crime."

TRUE BILLS NAME 3 ROAD BUILDERS

Shreveport Firm Officials Gave Highway Board Bad Check, Charge

Indictments charging three officials of a Shreveport, La., highway building firm with the misdemeanor offense of not having sufficient funds in the bank to cover checks given to the state highway board of Georgia with low bids on three highway contracts were returned Tuesday by the Fulton county grand jury.

Three true bills were returned against Ashton Glassell, president; J. W. Bannerman, assistant president, and Emmett Cochran, of Glassell-Cochran Inc., involving checks for $5,000, $7,500 and $9,000. Bonds were fixed at $7,500 each.

The checks were drawn on the First National Bank of Shreveport, and were "certified" by Bannerman, it was charged. J. S. Powell, attorney for the highway board, said that the checks were dated August 14, and were not paid by the highway board for bids on three contracts on August 16.

The Glassell-Cochran Company was listed as the contractor on the three contracts, $178,155.34 on an Oglethorpe county job, $150,517.41 on a Carroll county contract, and $108,738.51 on a Haralson county contract, Powell said. The contracts were awarded to the Shreveport firm, but the company found itself unable to make bond and quality for the contracts, and it asked for return of the checks, Powell explained.

The highway board refused to turn the checks back, holding that the checks were forfeited by the company's failure to return them to the board, and the board deposited the checks for collection, Powell said. The checks were returned unpaid.

Court Rules Ice Plant Was Erected Illegally

The supreme court Tuesday held that a permit for the construction of an ice plant on Stewart avenue, a plant that is already built, was issued illegally.

The decision was in the case of Morris vs. Lunceford, the high court reversing a ruling of Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court.

The opinion revealed that the Lunceford & Wilson Company applied for a permit to build the plant and then, without city building inspector, rejected the application, the rejection being upheld by the board of zoning appeals. The company renewed its application, and the inspector issued the permit. Residents of the vicinity took the case to court and Judge Pomeroy upheld Bowen's action. After winning the superior court, the company erected the ice plant.

However, the residents of the area carried the case to the supreme court and won on Tuesday's decision. The residents were represented by William B. Hartsfield, while the ice company was represented by McElreath & Scott.

Brilliance Marks Debut Party Of Miss Burnett at Driving Club

Inaugurating the brilliant series of social events attendant on the Thanksgiving season was the super-dance at which Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Burnett entertained last evening at the Piedmont Driving Club formally presenting their debutante daughter, Miss Susie Ella Burnett, to a gathering of Atlanta society members. Autumn colors were reflected in striking decorations used throughout the club. Yellow and white chrysanthemums featured the floral decorations and were effectively arranged in floor vases. The glossy foliage of the palms and ferns which were banded in the corners of the room. Giant chrysanthemums in these same tones were placed in the foyer of the club and other rooms.

Mounds of yellow and white pom-poms, chrysanthemums and tall vases of flowers were placed at intervals before the buffet table at either side of the ballroom. Here punch and other refreshments were served. Music was furnished by dancing by a nationally known orchestra, with a number of feature selections rendered during the evening.

Receiving with the hosts and honor guest were Miss Martha Burnett, debut sister of the debutante, and Miss Marian Melton of Cleveland, Ohio, who is visiting Miss Susie Ella Burnett. The group greeted the guests, who included several hundred members of the younger set of society, before a bank of palms and gorgeous baskets and bouquets of flowers which were gifts of numerous friends of this popular deb.

Debutante's Gown. Miss Burnett was a striking figure in her gown of frosted white satin, a long model. A modish high neckline in the front and low cut décolletage in the back were interesting features and loops of the satin at the armholes gave the fashionable broad-shouldered effect. She wore an exquisite shoulder spray of orchids and carried a beautiful bouquet, the gift of her aunt, the Misses Claire, Alice and Erma Borchert, of Vicksburg, Miss.

Mrs. Burnett was crowned in a starlight blue model, fashioned of Alcon lace and made on stylish lines. She wore a shoulder spray of gardenias. Miss Martha Burnett's gown was of pink frosted crepe trimmed with Paysanne velvet in rich Burgundy tones, which was applied in effective pleated style. She wore a crown spray of pink roses and valley lilies.

Shell pink frosted satin was employed for Miss Melton's costume, which formed an effective contrast with her accessories of pale green. She wore a spray of lavender orchids. Mrs. Carter Dalton, of High Point, N. C., the guest of Mrs. Burnett, wore a gown of sheer black wool crepe made with high neckline in front and low in back. Wide puffed sleeves were a becoming note and cut-out details were used in the trimming. She wore a shoulder bouquet of deep purple tinted orchids.

Assisting in entertaining the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Adair, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Otley Sr., Mr. and Mrs. George McCarty Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Rufus Dorsey, Mrs. Charles Rice, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Weiss.

Parents' study group of the East Point Harris Street school, which was announced to meet Friday morning, November 25, has been postponed until Friday, December 2. As previously announced, this meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James L. Allen, 122 Jefferson avenue, and will begin at 10 o'clock.

Miss Hattie Higginbotham sang a Scotch song, and tea was served by Mesdames W. F. Melton, Anderson M. Scuggs, C. Gainer Turner, David Buchanan and Miss Marguerite Steedman. David Buchanan, custodian of the building, showed the visitors over the house and grounds.

Miss Mimi Fleming leaves today for Hollins, Va., where she will spend the week-end at Hollins College. She will be accompanied by Miss Helen Flournoy, of Columbia, and Miss Kitty Witschorn, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Miss Isabel Knight, of Buford, Ga.

Miss Elizabeth Wilkins, of Jacksonville, Fla., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Hopkins Jr. at their home on Pace's Ferry road. She will be accompanied by the charming, rising belles attending the Thanksgiving Eve ball given by members of the Nine O'Clocks at the Piedmont Driving Club this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Green entertain at dinner at their home on High-land avenue, honoring Miss Clara Wilkins and her fiancé, Roland Wilkins.

PARIS LOVE

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Since the death of her husband 10 years previously, Kate Sayers had made $80,000.00 by continuing the manufacture in France of the now famous motor car Europa. Alfredo Santini, whom she knew only as a gigolo and a driver of racing cars, and who was in constant attendance on her, was chief of a gang of jewel thieves. Ramon Cabero and Eleanore Laforte, salesmen at Piron's jewelry shop, were members of his gang, which had robbed Piron several times by substituting imitation gems. Mrs. Sayers' daughter, Alicia, had unwittingly thwarted them once by buying a blasted pearl necklace before the arrival of an accomplice. Alicia recently had fallen in love with a handsome young Frenchman whom she learned later was Armand de Piron, Prince d'Orsant, poverty-stricken pretender to the French throne. He was a salesman at Piron's, learning the business. Santini had just had taken substituted for Mrs. Sayers' fabulous rubies when she took the train to Paris to meet him, and Cabero put the real rubies in the top box of the Europa racer Santini was to drive in the Grand Prix at Monte Carlo.

Now go on with the story:

INSTALLMENT XIV.

"As a matter of fact," she said practically, "there isn't a reason in the world why our meetings should be secret. My mother will have to know about you sooner or later, and it might as well be now. I heard her murmur something about dinner at home tonight, so there is a chance of her being in the house. What say we go in and get it over with?"

"Right O!" he replied. "My own mother will think I have been kidnapped by the Bolsheviks, but they can't be helped! What are you going to tell yours?"

"That we're engaged, of course!" she replied. "I'm not giving you any chance to escape, and I'm cinching the matter at once!"

"Remember, anything you say will be used against you!" he warned as she opened the door with her key. The little salon on the left of the entrance hall was empty, and she left him there while she went in search of her mother. Mrs. Sayers was in the last stages of an elaborate toilet as her daughter entered, and the enormous mirrors of an overcrowded dressing table reflected a stocky figure gleaming in white satin and sequins. Crimson-tipped fingers were in the act of clasping a heavy chain of diamonds around Mrs. Sayers' throat, and she turned at her daughter's entrance with a slight frown of annoyance.

"It's a good thing I'm dining out!" said Kate Sayers, "or I'd starve to death waiting for you to change. Where have you been so late—smashing up another car?"

"If you're dining out, I want to talk to you a minute," Alicia answered briefly. "Private, please."

Mrs. Sayers nodded to the maid, who withdrew. Then Kate Sayers picked up a buffer and examined her red finger tips critically.

"I don't see why you can't let business wait until morning!" she complained. "Tomorrow is my day at the office and I have to be away downtown at five by 9 o'clock."

"It's not business," Alicia explained, rather startled by her mother's cool assumption that she had no personal problems. Then she paused, hardly knowing how to go on. But in the end she took a long breath and plunged.

"Mother, I'm going to be married," she said simply.

"What?" exclaimed Mrs. Sayers, her jaw dropping in utter astonishment. "But you haven't got any beaux!"

"Hadn't," her daughter corrected her.

"Who is he?" her parents' voice was unflatteringly incredulous.

"Brace yourself, mother!" said Alicia. "This is going to be a shock. He's the Prince d'Orsant. For a moment he's a prince, but he's a royal blood! He's the one they want to make king of France! You know, it's been in the newspapers!"

"I know," said Alicia. "But don't get too excited, Mother. He's not going to be king, ever! Get that idea right out of your head. He doesn't even use a title. All of which has got nothing whatsoever to do with my wanting to marry him."

"But with your money," Kate Sayers began, they could do almost anything, those royalties!"

"That's what they'd probably think if we mentioned it to them," Alicia agreed grimly. "But tell you his being a prince doesn't matter in the least. What does matter is that we love each other. For the present the engagement is a strict secret. You must promise me to tell a soul."

"Not even Santini?" begged the woman.

"Least of all Santini!" said Alicia. "He'd have it all over town. Promise me, mother!"

"All right, child, I'll promise," said Kate Sayers, beginning to beam. "But I hope you'll get over that foolish idea about not using a title. After all it isn't everybody who has the chance to be a princess—and such a distinguished one! Why the whole world knows that name! When can I meet your young man, my dear?"

"He's downstairs now, waiting!" Alicia said. "I asked him to dinner. Oh, mother, must you go out?"

"I must; there is a way I can telephone," Kate Sayers replied discreetly. "Besides, Alfredo never forgives me if I stood him up on a date! So your fiancé is downstairs. My child, this is too thrilling! Tell me, is he old or young, or what?"

"Young, of course!" said Alicia, laughing. "Why, mother, you saw him when he drove me home yesterday morning! Don't you remember?"

Slowly it became apparent that after an effort Mrs. Sayers did recall the incident; the memory of the shabby little car carrying the young man away from her doorstep cast a shadow across her face and suddenly she pointed an accusing finger at her daughter.

"Alicia Sayers!" she cried. "You told us you did not know who he was! You had to ask Santini! I remember, now, perfectly. How long have you known him? How can I be sure he's not a fake? You know this town is simply crawling with plausible strangers!"

"Monsieur Piron vouches for him," said the girl, deliberately ignoring the first part of her mother's question. "He's exactly what he says he is."

"And how does Monsieur Piron know about him?" The practical business woman in Mrs. Sayers was aroused now, and her eyes were keen and intelligent as she flashed her pointed questions.

"He works there," Alicia responded. "Monsieur Piron has known him since he was a boy. Only one word stuck in the other woman's consciousness. 'Works there?' she said. 'If he is the Prince d'Orsant, why does he work there?'"

"Because he's a decent man!" Alicia cried desperately. "He's poor, and he has to work! A sort of pride made her say nothing about the prospective inheritance. She wanted to be valued for himself alone and was determined that he should be. 'As I see it,' cried her mother, 'He knows, of course, that you are not exactly poverty-stricken! This stung Alicia beyond endurance.'

"Either," she cried furiously, "mother made no reply to this but walked up and down the room for several minutes in a brown study. Then she came across to her daughter and laid a gentle hand on the girl's shoulder.

"There, there, my dear," she said kindly. "I don't mean to be critical. I merely want to protect you. I hope the boy is all right, and very likely he is. All I want, really, is your happiness. Let me see him and judge for myself. I promise not to be prejudiced one way or another." She kissed her daughter tenderly, and then soothed the yellow head which Alicia allowed to rest against the sequins on the ample bosom.

"Good for you, mother," said Alicia in a relieved voice. "I know you'll give us a fair break. Just let me powder my nose and I'll show him to you!"

While Alicia repaired the damage caused by a few unruly tears of indignation, Mrs. Sayers gathered her ermine wrap over one arm and collected her sparkling evening bag, glancing at the minute watch on her wrist.

"Hurry, darling," she urged. "I've only got a few minutes and you know how Alfredo hates to be kept waiting."

"Run down ahead and introduce yourself," Alicia suggested. "He's in the little salon. I'll be down in a second."

Mrs. Sayers nodded, and with a last look in the mirror hurried into the hall.

The grand staircase of the house was covered in a deep pile velvet carpet which gave no sound, and at the foot of it Mrs. Sayers paused, for the door to the salon was open and inside, standing before the fire, she could see a young man. His back was toward the door, but his profile was caught by a double reflection from a mirror in the salon to one in the halls and his curious actions were plainly visible to the unseen observer on the lowest step of the staircase. Mrs. Sayers was held spellbound by what she saw, for the young man was holding a string of pearls to his lips! For a moment she wondered how he felt unable to move. What was he doing with those jewels? Whose were they? Could they be a gift for Alicia, or... Where did he get them? She could not help the suspicion which knowledge of his poverty fastened upon him and which was seconded by her knowledge of where he was employed. Then she remembered her heritage of a great name and reconsidered. Probably the necklace was an heirloom. Of course! These aristocrats were customarily stubborn about parting with their family treasures! Partially satisfied with this explanation but with the ghost of a lingering doubt in her mind since the less, Mrs. Sayers finally entered the little salon. The man turned at the sound of her entrance, but the pearls had disappeared. There was no trace of any confusion in his manner, and indeed if anything he was the more at ease of the two.

"Alicia Sayers!" she cried. "You

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(P)—

Bond market prices, in most categories, drifted feebly to lower levels today.

While trading was somewhat more active than that of yesterday, when the turnover was the smallest in several years, it still was far below normal. Sales totaled only $8,456,000, while the Associated Press-Standard Statistics average for 60 domestic corporate loans last three-tenths of a point.

The market continued to reflect uncertainties connected with the war debt situation on which President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt conferred at Washington late in the afternoon.

Foreign obligations were generally soft, with some weak spots cropping out in the Argentine, Australian and Japanese.

Bonds of Australia were off 1-1/2 to 2-7/8, the Argentine 2 to 6 and the Japanese fractions to 1 or more points. The British, French, Norwegian, Finnish and Colombian groups eased, while the Germans were only slightly lower. Italian government 7s firmed.

Among heavier railroad liens were some of Southern Pacific and Southern. Firmness was shown by issues of Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio.

American Airlines exhibited quiet strength, the debenture 5-1/2s reaching a new high for the year before easing slightly, while the convertible 1-1/2s, debenture 10c, and the Shell Union Oil loans were up a point or more. Youngstown Sheet & Tube 5s declined 6 to 8.

United States government loans sagged, treasury 3s and 3-1/2s being the most active with losses of 6-3/8 to 8-3/8 of a point. Liberty 3-1/2s, however, advanced fractionally.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(P)—Arthur Davis, president of a State street department store, said his business showed a large increase since September 1 compared with previous months.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(P)—The cotton spinning industry, operated at 97 per cent of capacity on a single shift basis during October, the census bureau said. During September it operated at 94.6 and during October, 91, at 84.6.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(P)—R. G. Dun & Co.'s insolvency index was 134.2 for the first half of November, as against 140.1 last year, the agency said. The trend is contrary to the seasonal trend.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(P)—For the first time in seven years western railroads reported total freight shipments turned upward in mid-November. The bureau reported that the volume of 12 per cent for the past week, the Northwestern 7 per cent and the Santa Fe 2 per cent.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(P)—Herbert G. Mayer, president of Reliance Manufacturing Company, said today his firm probably would operate a new factory for work shirts at Columbus, Miss., and that plans were being considered for three or four other plants. The Michigan City (Ind.) plant, he said, has been enlarged three times this year.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 22.—(P)—The Athletic Mining & Smelting Company was ordered to resume work with more than 50 men called back to work. The plant had been closed since July 1931, and Raymond Orr, president of the organization, said the reopening was principally to give old employees jobs for the winter.

TARZAN THE UNTAMED No. 135

Olga awoke from troubled sleep unable for a moment to account for her surroundings. Then she realized that the fall in the storm-tossed parachute, like the other events of her dream, had really happened years before. Instead of her beloved Roger, the one now bending over her was Tarzan, the ape-man.

Hopefully, again, she felt the terror of her strange predicament. She knew this savage wild man was her enemy, hating her as he did all Reds. Nor could she expect much mercy from him, since she had once tried to kill him. . . . Now began busy days as Tarzan built a thatched hut with a small boma surrounding it.

Olga tried to help. They worked almost in silence. She watched this sun-tanned, handsome giant with puzzled awe. He moved with the graceful ease of a jungle cat, lifting heavy weights with no apparent effort, as if he had the attributes of superman and savage beast.

Both seemed closely intermingled in him. His stern and silent presence produced a feeling of "some far, has not attempted to harm me," Olga told herself, "but for what sinister purpose is he protecting me from the other savage denizens of his cruel jungle?"

8 ASPIRANTS SEEK BARNWELL'S POST

Warm Race Seen in 6th Ward; Benson To Oppose Donaldson.

With seven qualified aspirants actively in the field for the post of councilman from the sixth ward to succeed the late Claude L. Barnwell, and one independent candidate, Henry Benson, formerly chief of sewers in the construction department, who will oppose Clarke Donaldson, democratic nominee, a heavy vote in the December 7 primary was seen Tuesday.

L. O. Moseley, associate manager of the Piedmont hotel and a former sixth ward alderman, qualified for Barnwell's post, and he will be elected to fill the unexpired term of Barnwell by council at its meeting slated for 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Alderman W. W. Waits and Councilman John Owen, remaining members of the sixth ward delegation, will nominate him.

Others qualified are W. G. Hastings, public relations manager of the Ansley hotel; Dr. Horace Grant, prominent civic leader; Arthur H. Scott, youthful opponent of Barnwell previously; Dr. John C. White, a former member of council; Charles E. Jackson, prominent in political circles; Thomas H. Goodwin and J. E. Miller.

Benson declined to make any statement regarding his independent candidacy, saying he would have something to say at a later date. His qualification, however, brought to the surface a long smoldering feud within the construction department. Benson held the post of assistant chief of construction in charge of sewers until the city primary last summer, when he was replaced by William A. Hansell, former chief of construction. He then was made superintendent of disposal plant.

Donaldson would not make any statement Tuesday except to say: "I am the democratic nominee, and I do not believe the people of Atlanta are ready to overthrow the democratic white primary."

'SPY' AGAIN ACCUSED IN WAR FIRE PROBE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A charge that Theodore Wozniak, claimed by the United States to have been the German spy responsible for the destruction of the Kingsland, N. J., munitions plant, was made today before the German-American claims commission by American attorneys.

The fire, which destroyed the Kingsland plant just before the United States entered the World War, started at Wozniak's work bench. On the claim of new evidence, the commission is rehearing the case in which the German agents were implicated in the destruction.

Linked with the Kingsland case in the hearings in the destruction of the Black Tom terminal of the Lehigh Valley railroad in New York harbor about a year earlier.

The claims against Germany in the case total $40,000,000, and once before the commission gave a decision favorable to Germany.

Testimony by Wozniak at previous hearings on his activities after the fire was claimed by American lawyers today to be refuted by three letters, comprising a part of the new evidence.

Woman Takes Poison, Is Found Unconscious

Mrs. T. C. Rogers, of 595 Terrace avenue, was admitted to Grady hospital late Tuesday night suffering from the effects of poison, according to attaches. Her husband said he had gone to bed and left Mrs. Rogers playing the radio downstairs. At her failure to retire, he investigated and found her unconscious on the floor. Her condition was undetermined at Grady early Wednesday morning.

2 GEOLOGISTS KILLED AS PLANE HITS TREE

WHARTON, Texas, Nov. 22.—(AP)—An airplane crash here last night took the lives of two geologists, E. C. Templeton, of Los Angeles, and W. G. Gallagher, of Beville, Texas. Templeton was killed almost instantly. Gallagher died in a Houston hospital today.

C. F. Lienesch, of Los Angeles, head of the aviation department of the Union Oil Company of California, was injured. The accident happened during physical research in this section for the company.

The plane, attempting to land in the dark, crashed into a tree at the airport here.

COL. MILLER CONVICTED OF ALIMONY CHARGE

NEWKIRK, Okla., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A district court jury today convicted Colonel Zack Miller, pioneer ranchman, of contempt of court for failure to pay temporary alimony to Mrs. Margaret Blevins-Miller, his estranged wife.

Judge Claude Duval, presiding, set November 26 as date for rendering judgment.

SOCIALISTS OPPOSE SALES TAX MEASURE

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Socialism, through Norman Thomas, protested tonight the possible enactment of a sales tax.

"Our socialist campaign goes on immediately," Thomas declared, "to block the sales tax, both because it is unjust in its burden upon the workers and because it will still further injure any true resumption of prosperity."

DRY RAIDERS KILL MISSISSIPPI NEGRO

COLUMBUS, Miss., Nov. 22.—(AP)—J. B. Washington, 34, negro, was killed last night during a raid on a still. Deputy Sheriff J. W. Davis and S. H. Hall, of Pickens county, Alabama, reported today the shooting took place near Gordo, Ala., east of Columbus, and occurred the officer said, when Washington reached for an ax when ordered to surrender.

School Teachers' Guns Halt Indian Raid

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Nov. 22.—(AP)—When a battery of blastering bucks boomed into the school building apartment of Miss Leona Johnson, 23, she grabbed a brace of automatic pistols. Bullets belched defiance at the intruders and the Indians fled, one of them with three bullets in his leg as a souvenir of yesterday's encounter.

Leona (Two-Gun) Johnson, calmly opened school ten minutes later, her slightly pale face the only giveaway of her wild west interlude.

School authorities remembered when Miss Johnson asked for a school on the Klamath Indian reservation she said she didn't mind rough living conditions. They believe her now.

BEER BLOC SPLIT ON DISTRIBUTION

Brewers Express Fear That Gangsters Will 'Muscle In' on Industry.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The question of how beer is to be distributed if congress makes the beverage legal is the subject of a dispute between some brewers' proponents of legislation to modify the Volstead law.

Old time advocates of beer are viewing the problem as serious. They regard it as involving the price at which it is to be sold and the amount of revenue it will give the treasury. Recent anti-prohibitionist converts are more optimistic of quick action at the coming session.

On the other hand, big brewers preparing for a resumption of business in coming months have expressed fears to Dr. James M. Dorn, director of industrial alcohol that "gangsters" will seek to "muscle-in" on their business.

Reports have reached the brewers the gangsters plan to obtain permits to manufacture beer when it is legalized and they have expressed concern over whether their saloonmen can compete with the machine guns of the modern outlaw.

Meanwhile, Representative O'Connor, democratic New York, co-author of the O'Connor-Hull bill rejected by the house last session, en route to Washington with President-elect Roosevelt, said "there is a big thing going on behind the scenes between the brewers and members of congress on how beer is to be distributed."

Returning to Washington today to prepare for the coming session, Speaker John N. Garner, the vice president-elect, reiterated his prediction that this congress would legalize beer of "about 2.75 or 3 per cent" alcoholic content.

VIRGINIA DRY JOINS MOVEMENT FOR BEER

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Representative Menaul Lankford, a republican, of Norfolk, heretofore regarded as a supporter of prohibition, announced he would vote in the coming short session of congress for modification of the Volstead act to permit the sale of non-intoxicating beers and wines.

Mr. Lankford, who was defeated for re-election this month, predicted congress at the short session would vote to modify the Volstead act and submit to the states a repealer for the eighteenth amendment.

BREWERY PLANT PLANNED BY MIAMI HOTEL MAN

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Gustave Muller, prominent Miami hotel man, announced today that construction will be started here on a brewery the "day after federal and state laws are passed permitting manufacture of beer with a 2.75 or more per cent of alcohol content.

Muller said a company will be incorporated with a $500,000 capital, that finances have been arranged for and that application has been made for papers of incorporation.

SALE OF N. Y. WORLD DEFENDED IN COURT

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—At the time of its sale, 18 months ago, the New York World had reserve funds that would have permitted its publication only 90 days more, the appellate division of supreme court was told today.

Vincent L. Leibell, counsel for minor grandchildren of the late Joseph Pulitzer, told the court that if the World and the Evening World had not been sold quickly the Pulitzer heirs would have seen the assets of the papers "evaporate before their eyes."

Leibell appeared in opposition to efforts of former World employees to have the sale rescinded.

Gustavus Rogers, counsel for James W. Barrett and Foster Gillet, former city editor and business manager, respectively, of the World, had criticized the financial arrangements under which the papers were sold to the Scripps-Howard chain. The appellate court reserved decision.

TENN. ROAD PROJECTS GIVE WORK TO 6,000

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Four road construction projects in Shelby county that will give work for more than two months to at least 6,400 unemployed men were announced today.

Two of the projects, Commissioner Hale said, would be financed by a $115,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the other two by loans from the federal emergency road fund.

WATCHMAN CONFESSES HOOVER PLOT WAS HOAX

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Dan O'Connell, chief of the special agents of the Southern Pacific Company, said tonight that Charles E. Fish, railroad watchman, had admitted his story of being attacked and shot while he was guarding the right-of-way near Palisade, Nev., during President Hoover's trip to Palo Alto, was a hoax.

BACHARACH OFFERS NEW BONUS IDEA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A new idea on the bonus has been presented to Representative Bacharach, republican, New Jersey, who sponsored the 50 per cent loan bill of two years ago.

It is a move to return adjusted service certificates to the government to help it.

WINNIE RUTH JUDD MAKES FINAL APPEAL

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Winnie Ruth Judd, convicted Arizona "trunk" murderer, has made her last fight to escape the gallows, but due to a crowded court calendar the Arizona state supreme court will be unable to act for at least two weeks on act on her final appeal.
